TWENTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY EDITION

Our high school has traveled a long way since its first graduating class of 1927 packed away their graduation suits and passed from their Alma Mater, turning over their places to the classes to come. Out of the shadows of the many people who have inhabited the halls of Dubois High School has come the realization of many dreams.

Out of respect to those who have given so much, we wish to pause at this 25 year mark and resolve that we carry on this great work and to pass on the torch to the keepers of the future. To this Spirit of Progress we dedicate in 1951.....

THE ECHO

.....And, when the stream which overflowed the soul was passed away, a consciousness remained that it had left, deposited upon the silent shore of memory, images and precious thoughts that shall not die, and cannot be destroyed.....

Our Principal's Message

MR. A. J. KREITZER

The class of 1951 is to be congratulated on the fine work it has done, not only as students, but in the development of social responsibilities.

The latent abilities you possess have great possibilities, if permitted to extend themselves.

The development of the atomic bomb has proven that when the need is great enough, human progress is unlimited. With this as a premise, I challenge each of you to pressure yourself to the very limit of your ability in the search for success.

My faith in you is strong and I hope that you will carry on in a manner exemplifying the training received at the Dubois High School.

Good Luck,

A. J. Kreitzer

CLASS HISTORY

On August 28, 1947 forty one freshmen came to the Dubois High School in quest of more and newer fields of education. The faculty consisted of: Mr. Beeks, Principal; Mr. Zehr, English; Mr. Kreitzer, Social Studies; Mr. Seger, Commerce-Coach; Mrs. Schiller, Mathamatics; and Mrs. Zehr, Home Economics.

Mrs. Zehr was our Sponsor. Louise Hemmerlein, a member of our class was elected as a yell leader. The basketball queen attendants were Marilyn Hall and Marie Fuhrman.

Upon our return as sophomores Alva Baer and Faye Voelkel didnot return but Howard Anderson and Robert Glenn, who had attended Cuzco High School were welcomed into our class. During the year James Cooper, Lester Weisheit and Marie Fuhrman quit school.

There were several changes in the faculty as Mr. Kreitzer replaced Mr. Beeks as principal; Mr. McCutcheon became the Science teacher; Miss Shurig became the English teacher; and Mrs. McCutcheon replaced Mrs. Zehr as Home Economics teacher. Our sponsor was Mr. McCutcheon under whose guidance we were able to give a very successful carnival. Louise Hemmerlein was again selected as a yell leader and the basketball queen attendants were Marilyn Hall and Louise Hemmerlein.

At the beginning of our junior year Donald Hentrup, Ardella Hopf and Hilbert Sermersheim failed to return. But their place was taken by Harold Wineinger, who transferred from French Lick High School and Edward Wineinger, who transferred from Losantsville High School. During the year Robert Glenn and Edward Wineinger dropped out of school. However, the next year Edward returned to school to continue his education, for which, he has our congratulations.

The only change in our faculty was Miss Seng, who replaced Miss Shurig.

Some of the activities during our Junior Year were: raising money by selling magazines under the Curtis Plan. We were able to sell over $500 worth of magazines. The leading salesman was Eugene Coble. Our class play was entitled "Grandad Steps Out" and was directed by Mr. Kreitzer. On April 25 the Junior Class, under the sponsorship of Miss Seng, were hosts at the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom. Louise Hemmerlein was again selected as yell leader and the basketball queen attendants were Marilyn Hall and Lillian Pieper.

We ushered in our senior year without change in personnel. The only changes in the faculty were that Mrs. Ellis replaced Miss Seng and Marilyn Walker was added as music instructor.

Our sponsor was Mr. Zehr who directed our Senior Class Play entitled "Grandad Meets A Pal".

Melvin Leistner and Elta Breitwieser were elected as editors of the yearbook, The Echo. Helen Heeke was elected as editor of the schoolpaper. Marilyn Hall was elected as the basketball queen and her senior attendants were Helen Heeke and Imogene Voelkel. Louise Hemmerlein was elected to represent Dubois High School at the Holiday Festival at Huntingburg. Elta Breitwieser was selected by the junior class as the Prom Queen. Louise Hemmerlein was selected as yell leader for the fourth consecutive year.

After a busy year, filled with numerous pleasures and considerable hard work, our stay in Dubois High School came to a final conclusion with the Baccalaureate Services on April 22 and the Commencement later that week. We now said Adieu to a grand school, a fine student body and a truly great faculty.

Truly there remain images and precious thoughts that shall not die and cannot be destroyed.

CLASS PROPHECY

As we were preparing this 25th anniversary edition of the Dubois High School Echo, we spoke of the various members of the 24 previous classes. Suddenly someone struck a solemn note and questioned, "Where will be 25 years hence?" To which Eugene Coble, who is always willing and ready to offer a suggestion, said, "Why not visit a fortune teller and find out". This being a very good idea we appointed a committee to visit a reputable person in that field. An appointment was made and the appointed hour arrived.

"Isee", said the mysterious mystic, "in the crystal ball, a street in New York. Two men are walking through the crowd and they immediately recognize each other as old school chums Hershel Zehr and Frederick Patcheak. They are excited over this unexpected meeting and converse about themselves. Hershel invites Fred to stay at the hotel where he is registered. He also states that he is just returning from a UN meeting where he presided as Secretary-General. He asks Fred what he is doing in New York. Fred replies that he has come to a lawyers' convention. He has his own law firm in Chicago. While they are walking down the street, Fred buys a newspaper and sees a familiar name at the top of an editorial. The name is Helen Heeke, who is now editor of the New York News. As they walk on they notice in bright lights, 'Now playing - North Atlantic - a sequel to South Pacific'. Hershel remarks that he has two tickets and asks Fred to join him. Upon entering the theatre they obtain a program and see that the author is none other than an old classmate Viola Himsel. All lights are now dimmed and Elta Breitwieser, who has made quite a name for herself on Broadway, enters and delivers a stirring soliloquy. Also seated on the stage at a large grand piano they see Sylvia Schnell.

The mystic continues looking into the crystal ball. "The two men are now boarding a plane for Chicago. They are sure of a safe trip, because the navigator is a radar expert, Melvin Leistner. Their conversation is interrupted by a friendly Hello.

They look up and see it is the stewardess, Imogene Voelkel. When they arrive at Chicago, they are making their way through the crowd at the airport, when Fred points out a redheaded man and says, "I swear there is only one person in the world with hair like that and that is Eugene Coble. When they ask Coble his business, he tells them he has his own advertising agency and is just going to do some skywriting for one of his customers, The Mushy-Mush Baby Food Corporation, of which Bob Braun is head.

After watching Coble take off, Hershel and Fred leave in a taxi for their hotel. The taxi driver has his TV set on and soon they see and hear News Commentator Robert Lee Schroering give his daily news-cast. After this program, a professional basketball game appears on the screen. The sports announcer of the game is Donald Fisher. While watching the game they notice that one of the coaches is Howard Anderson, a former DHS player. When they reach their hotel they see three uniformed men come marching down the sidewalk. They are Edwin Goller, Bill Loveall and Eugene Pieper. Edwin and Bill are officers in the Navy while Gene is an army colonel. Bill said he got seasick the first time he was on the water, but due to the good care given him by Dr. James Seger and his efficient nurse Betty Ann Nonte, he survived.

When Fred enters his office, he finds a note on his desk requesting that he come to Dubois to represent a client, Harold Wineinger, who has been arrested by the Dubois Chief of Police Delbert Angerer for speeding. Harold is now operating his own trucking line. Fred asks Hershel if he will accompany him to Dubois. Hershel accepts the invitation and they board a TWA airliner for Dubois. They decide to stop over at Indianapolis for a day. When they reach the circle they find a crowd gathered around a man making a political speech. They recognize the politician as an old classmate, Alois Pieper, who is electioneering for Emil Fuhrman, Republican candidate for state Superintendent of public instruction in Indiana. They next decide to attend an opera. They find one and discover that the leading singer is Dennis Theising. After the performance they go backstage and find a neatly dressed WAC talking to Dennis. They recognize her as Mary Bachman. They now buy a couple of magazines to read at the hotel. They find a cartoon magazine published by John William Baer, who was always drawing pictures in high school. While leafing through a picture magazine they come to an article concerning the candidates for the title of Mrs. America. The name under one of the pictures was Mrs. Huebner whom they recognized as the former Marilyn Hall.

The next morning Hershel and Fred leave for Dubois. Arriving at Dubois they are surprised at how rapidly the town has grown.

As they stroll down Main Street they admire the numerous buildings that have been erected since they have been gone. Above one of the buildings they observe the sign Mathias's Business School and they learn that it is operated by Doris Lee Mathies. Fred leaves Hershel to find Harold and to investigate his arrest. He finds him at his hotel where he is awaiting his trial the next day. The following morning when Fred arrives at the courtroom he finds it packed. The Honorable Judge Louise Hemmerlein is presiding over the court. He also sees Laverne Mathies the court stenographer who is ready to record the facts. One of the jury members is also familiar. It is Lillian Pieper, who is a housewife and no doubt goes by a different name now.

During a recess in the trial Fred and Hershel visit the new modern building which now houses Dubois High School. In the hallway they meet Christine Kempf, who is a faculty member. In the Home Economics room Mildred Humbert, a seamstress, is giving some tips to Lucille Sander the Home Economics teacher.

When they return to the courtroom they find that the jury has already returned a verdict of not guilty and Harold is once again a free man.

Having run the gauntlet of all the members of the Class of 1951 we returned to reality and thought to ourselves - just how accurate can these mystics be - Oh! Well!
