How It's all put together ...

The JEEP Thing

As Jeeps we have certain traditions that are unique to our school. In fact the Jeep itself is so unique that there is only one other school in the nation with the same mascot. As we pondered over the theme of our yearbook, it dawned on us that not only was out mascot unique, but the people in our school were also original. Hence the phrase, "It's a Jeep thing... you wouldn't understand."

As years go by many traditions are lost, but new ones tend to evolve. Throughout this yearbook we will remind you of the traditions that have been lost, the ones that will never leave, and the ones that began recently. For instance, Mr. Balka's Friday afternoon report and the releasing of the juniors as seniors on the last day of their junior year, were lost with the changing of administration. However not all traditions fade away with the shifts of administration you will always see signs throughout Dubois during sectional times, and it seems as though the spellbowl team will always advance to the state competition. New traditions seem to come about with the change in technology, for instance this is the second year the students and faculty created an ode to the seniors with the senior video which is presented at the senior banquet.

So sit back and learn of traditions old and new in "It's a jeep thing...you wouldn't understand."

- Showing support for her country... after the terrorist attacks by wearing red, white, and blue is senior Allison Atkins. Almost everyone can feel the patriotism that resulted from the attacks. Perhaps that American pride will become a tradtion the entire country will take part in for years to come.
- Enjoying the nice weather we had early this year...are seniors Rachel Schepers and Brandy Merkley. Sitting outside during lunch on warm days has become a tradition for many students.
- Playing dress up in Mrs. Parr's office... is senior Jamie Zehr. Every year pictures can be found of someone dabbling in Mrs. Parr's collection of aprons.
 - Convos used to be a big tradition...but the "What If" presentation was one of only two convocations this year. Here, students watched actors do improvizational skits about moral issues.
- Sitting in the front foyer during lunch... are seniors Robin Arvin and Christa Voelkel. During both lunches people can be found here.
- 6 Enjoying a hayride before graduation practice... are a group of seniors. Could getting up early that morning become a new tradition?
- Painting the baseball fence... is the senior english class. This was part of a first time service learning project.

Shirley Dillion

What's the funniest thing you've seen in the hallway?

I would like to take this time to thank the cooks and custodians here at Northeast Dubois High School. They do many things for us, and this school. They are the people who cook your food everyday. They are the people who make sure the hallways and restrooms are clean. They do so many things for this school, that we take for granted. So I encourage you the next time you pick up a lunch tray, or see a custodian cleaning say, "Thank you for the time and effort you put into our school to make it a better place." Boys Cross Country

The Boy's Cross Country had doubts of having a successful season, but realized they could prove people wrong. Coach Vic Betz stated this when he says, "A team like this I enjoy because not much is expected of them. I've used that to motivate them to prove themselves."

After losing their two best runners from last year, the boys had to practice harder and try to improve. One person that did this was senior Ryan Wineinger. Ryan was the only runner to make it out of sectional and go on to regional. At Regional, Ryan's target was to run with Brandon Betz, a junior at Forest Park High School. Having this in his mind, Ryan finished 13th with the time of 17:42, one second behind Brandon. The hard work of the whole team seemed to pull them through a successful season.

Girls Cross Country

Many people wonder how any Cross Country runners can endure that much pain and torture for such a long period of time. Is it because of their 7th sectional win since 1990? Or is it because they placed 1st in 5 out of their 14 meets, and finished in the top 5 in 11 of their 14

The girls have struggled with many injuries all year, but that didn't stop them. They came back with a very outstanding performance to edge their rivals, South Spencer and Heritage Hills. With the help of their leaders, senior Leslie Friedman and sophomore Giesla Betz, the girls finished 3rd in Regional and 6th in Semi-State.

So, you can decide for yourself. All of these reasons have helped the girls, but nothing beats the watermelon after a long. hard practice.

Volleyball

Varsity Volleyball

The varsity volleyball team was lead by four very dominant seniors and backed by two sophomoresand one freshman. The varsity volleyball team had to once again start their season all over with a new coach one week before their first game. Volleyball is a game of team work and cooperation so this team had to begin molding themselves together very late. At the beginning of the season the Jeeps set goals they tried to meet. One goal was to win the Northeast Dubois Tourney, but the Jeeps fell short with a second place finish to Orleans. The Jeeps came up with a win over Medora, which was one important goal of the team. The goal to win sectional was fought for all season long. The Jeeps used the season to prepare for their match up with Wood Memorial. The Jeeps lost in the third match against Wood Memorial in the sectional action at Tecumseh.- Dana Gehlhausen

JV Volleyball

The JV volleyball team was filled with talent. They had a junior to push them along and several sophomores to help the team. There were new freshmen to come up with a lot of attitude that the team needed to win some games. This team was very active and excited to play when the time came. They always talked and worked together, a big part of volleyball.

The JV team met some of their goals that they prepared before the first game. They beat many teams that were unexpected and never gave up untill the game was done.

After each game, the JV helped the varsity prepare for their game. Being on JV includes having to help the varsity no matter what the outcome of their game. They did jobs like shagging the balls, hitting it to the team, and pumping up the team's spirit. - Dana Gehlhausen

The freshmen this year have stepped into this role without any problems. They worked as a team and had a season record of 6-8 which didn't reflect the total picture. They came through and beat some difficult teams such as North Daviess, North Knox, and Springs Valley. They have played every game close even the ones they lost. Junior Varsity Boys Basketball

The boys J.V. Basketball team finished their season with a 7-13 record. The boys were lead by junior Derrick Meyer and to help him were nine sophomores. These boys encountered many obstacles this year by beating Pike Central by only one point and losing to Forest Park in the Jasper Tourney by only five points. The boys had a lot of tough competition by coming away with a lot of wins and by losing to teams by only one point. Joel Terwiske received the outstanding Frosh/Soph award. Joel played varsity as a sophomore. Luke Stemle walked away with the rebounding award with no problem, he also sat varsity. Coach Case had this to say," Success consists of getting up as many times as you fall." - Katie Danhafer

Junior Varsity Girls Basketball

The Northeast Dubois girls' junior varsity basketball team ended their 2001-2002 season with a 17-3 record. The girls put in a lot of time and effort, not only on the court but off the court as well. The junior varsity was motivated by a new coach, Coach Roger Elliott. The girls would describe him as a well-rounded coach. He pushed them when they needed it and at times he would just let them play. Coach Elliott described the girls as, "A perfect example of what teamwork is all about," The girls ended their season with a winning record with the only losses from county rivals Forest Park, Jasper and Southridge. A victory title and trophy was earned by winning the JV tourney at Dubois.

-Allison Atkins

We asked junior Derrick Meyer to describe how this season was. He said the season was challenging because we didn't win as many games, but we all got along and stuck together."

We asked a new player, freshman Amanda Gutgsell, what she thought about the season compared to last year. Her reply was, "It was a lot different than last year because we had to run more and freshman had to get all the equipment."

That thing you do...

Boys Varsity Basketball

"It's not how you begin that counts, but its how you finish." coach Hochegesang said. Even if the season did not turn out the way they wanted, the boys played intense defense and gave all they could give. It took them awhile to get everything together but thay eventually found it. They played as a team toward the end of the year to make it a very close game at Sectional (at Wood Memorial).

Senior Cole Harris was the first leading scrorer from Dubois for the County. He played varsity for three years. He accumulated a year high of 376 points.

Senior Dustin Wolf was the second leading scorer from Dubois for Dubois County. When Dustin went up for a shot against Springs Valley, he reached the 1,000-point mark during the contest to become the first player in school history to reach that total. He had a year high of 338 points. He was also a 3-year starter and has played on Varsity all four years of his career.

To motivate the team for Sectional several players from varsity and junior varstiy showed their support by shaving their heads. Doing so took a lot of dedication and team spirit. - Jennifer Voegerl and Rachel Schepers

Girls Varsity Basketball

The season started out with new coaches and fairly new players, who all worked to get the team to come together. After the resignation of former coach Beth Neukam and J.V. coach Diane Schnell, three new coaches stepped into the reigns, Alan Matheis, Gary Bair, and Roger Elliott. These three coaches were willing to start from the beginning with a young team. The team consisted of only two seniors, five juniors, and the rest of the squad was made up of sophomores and freshmen. With not much varsity experience, there was a large task at hand.

The team began with an overall record of 7-4 record. After the Southridge tourney the team hit a slump. They didn't win another game the rest of the season.

The major point stressed this year was "seriousness". It was a major factor in many games. Matheis said, "The biggest thing I've noticed with coaching these girls and getting back into the swing of this is the seriousness of it." He then addded, "Basketball has always been a real serious thing to me and a real intense type of thing." By the end of the season the team was very focused and was more intent on winning. - Robin Arvin

Girls Swimming

Being the majority of the swim team the girls, coached by Corky Ernie and Rod Peek, conquered many obstacles this year, reaching many goals, and having fun as a team. The girls swim team was lead by sophomore Mallory Eisenhut and junior Janelle Schroeder. Janelle and Mallory started off the season swimming 100 breaststroke, the 50, and 100 freestyle. Junior Janelle Schroeder broke the schools record for the 100m breast stroke beating it by seven seconds. Coach Corky Ernie was quoted this season in the Herald, for saying, "Until we grow in numbers as a team, our goal will be to better our times in each event." Coach Corky Ernie was very pleased with her swimmers this season and very anxious for next year. - Allison Atkins and Tina Beckman

We asked sophomore ...Jacob Pankey how he liked swimming with his brother and if he planned on beating any of Jon's records after he's gone and this is what he said, "Swimming with my brother was alright, and I'll try to beat him, but I don't know how successful I'll be."

Boy's Track

The Boy's Track team stood strong as they took home many first and second place finishes. Thay ran against many tough teams, but they stood strong and worked hard as a team to finish second in Blue Chip Conference. After losing nine senior boys that contributed a great deal to the team, the senior boys pushed themselves and the other boys to do their best. The extra effort was show in Blue Chip Conference when Cole Harris, Jon Pankey, and Brent Freyberger made All Conference for the team.

Junior Brent Freyberger finished his season with a 4th place finish at regional in the high jump; senior Ryan Wineinger placed 4th in the mile. Senior Jon Pankey qualifed for state in the pole vault .- Rachel Schepers

GOLF

Congratulations to junior Amy Harrison. Amy played in the girls golf sectional at Sullivan and finished one stroke away from qualifying for regional competition. The top three teams advance to regional and the top three individuals not on those teams. Amy finished fourth. Good job Amy! Amy also was included on the boys golf team. Senior Aaron also earned the top spot on the team for being the golfer with the best over all average. The matches were very competative throughout the whole season. There was even competition within the team for the top spot. Even though they were competative they still pulled through for a great season. "We played very well and I am very pleased with the season. Even though we could have had a better win/loss record we were still very competative. Our biggest win would have to be against Princeton because they are a much bigger school than us and we pulled out with a better score,"commented Coach Jerry Mills - Aron Wright

About

You...

In everyone's lives we do things we wish we did not do or we look back at things and just laugh about some unusual circumstances.

Sometimes they think
"how could I ever have done something so stupid?" As we grow older we get more privileges and we get more responsibilities. Then we tend to become irresponsible and do things that people would not believe. Times of mischief can become memories for you and your friends. Here we have caught just a few of the many mischievous things done each day. - Rachel Schepers and Kim Schepers

Writing with his butt...is senior Jacob Neukam. At yearbook camp Jacob was asked to do something for the talent show. Jacob decided to do something unusual, so he decided to spell words out with his backside.

Being his mischievous self... to dry his clothes or not to dry his clothes is sophomore Eric Padgett. Eric is involved in athletics including track and basketball.

In every sport...there is always freshmen initiation. This year in Cross Country being the nice seniors we are, we did some bad things to the freshmen, which led to no more freshmen initiation in Cross Country ...

During Academic Bowl senior Kurt Verkamp was the captain of the muth team. As captain you are suppose to pick up the ribbons. Playing cards was more important than picking up 1st place ribbons according to Kurt. When they got on the bus to go home Mrs. Hinsel asked him where the ribbons were (knowing that he didn't pick them up). Seeing Kurt trying to explain to Mrs. Himsel was a picture worth a thousand words.

Holiday Ball 2001...

Holiday Ball was held this year on December 16, 2001. Student Council decorated the Celestine Community Club with Christmas trees, icicle lights, and floating candles. Mrs.Harris, Mr. Betz, and Mr. Balka chaperoned the Holiday Ball. Student Council did things a little different, by having Sound and Light, DJ, and Sheri Breitwieser took the couple and friends pictures.

Senoir Rachel Schepers said that, "Holiday Ball this year was a lot of fun, and getting to go with my boyfriend, Aaron Reckelhoff, made it even more fun." - Katie Danhafer and Erin Spellmeyer

Having fun DJing, is senior Cole Harris. Cole and Cody Ziegler were the DJ's for the Holiday Ball. They were also the only two people, in sound and light, and were the DJ's for the high school and middle school dances.

Queen

Crowning

The 2001-2002 Northeast Dubois Queen Crowning was held on Friday, January 18, against Vincennes Rivet. The ball carrier was Quinton Hawes, son of Cherie Pieper and Richard Hawes. The crown carrier was Mariah Hart, daughter of Sandy Moore and Buddy Hart. This year was very unusual considering the fact that there were two kings and only one queen! This had not happened since 1994.

The seniors chose white chiffon over a lamour lining. The dresses had a halter bodice featuring hand beaded leaf streamer applications. The dresses had a princess line skirt.

The underclass dresses were made of a black lamour. The dresses had a halter cut top that went over the left shoulder. It featured two rows of Australian crystal rhinestones. It included a princess line skirt. - Lindsay Vogler, Ericka Merkel, and Heather Kleinhelter

"Captured in a Dream"

The 2002 Prom was held on Friday April 26 at the Holiday Inn decorated to go with the theme "Captured in a Dream". The theme was carried out with a white curved gateway designed by junior Rachel Cartwright and constructed by juniors Nick Brosmer and Blake Schroering.

The room was decorated with the prom colors: coral, yellow and silver. The chandelier was adorned with balloons, netting and lights. The backdrop for photos consisted of two eight foot round pillars with a black background and two four foot pillars with vases of coral and yellow roses. The photographers were Robert and Judy McCarty.

The tables were set with white tablecloths and were alternated with sponged candles of coral and yellow on glass platters and ivy. The other tables had glass globes with lighted candles and rose petals of yellow and coral.

The prom song was "There You'll Be" by Faith Hill. The music was provided by "Major Entertainment". Class sponsors were Mrs. Diane Meredith and Mr. Dave Schipp.

Excuses For Not Doing Homework

Annie Nathan and Becky Kalb

"When ever I don't have my homework done, I just tell the teacher that it is at home on my bed"...Lacee Peek

When students need a break, usually the first thing they like to forget about is homework. Even though some parents and teachers believe that school is a vacation compared to when they went to school, we, the students know otherwise.

A majority of students work after school to pay for a car or other things that they want. Then there are the ones that just want to have fun. Why shouldn't they? This is high school. Should we just be here to learn to ready ourselves for the real world, or should we learn to be responsible and show our adult side? Of course everyone has a differing point of view.

Whether we show our serious side or our fun side it is up to us. -Jennifer Linne

Beginning

Imagine coming into a new school, with new people, and new surroundings. It's not easy. But one thing that helps this freshmen class is by sticking with each other. Despite the fact that they are very small, only having 65 students in the class, they help each other out, almost like a family. The class is equally split, only having five more boys than girls. Although they are close,

The sophomore class is well known for being the largest class at Dubois, and this makes a very large job for sophomore sponsors Mr. Elliott and Mrs. Schroeder. This group of students is well known for being a very loud and unique group of students. Any time you see a group of sophomores, they will make themselves known. Having such a big size class makes it easier to get more and more friends in their own grade. The students in this class are a very close group and are always together with friends at school, parties, or just hanging out. When asked what most of their time spent doing is, most responses that we received were going to Katie Knight's cabin, walking around in Wal-mart, or hanging out at Denny's restaurant. Who is your best friend?

"No one, because I can't have just one." Luke Friedman

Is there anything unusual that you collect?

"I collect quotes. Anytime someone says something funny I write it down, then I can always remember it." Jenna Terwiske

Where is the worst place you've ever used the bathroom?

"Our room in Hotel Harington in DC where the door wouldn't close and no lights would work." Julie Verkamp

What was your first reaction to the acts of terrorism?

"Fear of losing my family, friends, Kyle, and all the people I love. Sad for all the people who were killed and their families. -Giesla Betz Inquiring minds want to know...what's up with junior Brad Gehlhausen's octopus in the window of his car?

Unless you are a student at NDHS you wouldn't understand... bow all the types of vehicles play an important part in reflecting a student's personality or you wouldn't understand how could so many accidents happen in the parking lot going 15 mph (vah-right!).

According to our surveys the most common cars in the Jeep parking lot are Cavaliers, Sunfires, and Monte Carlo's. Don't forget some of the unique qualities that make some of the vehicles just hard to forget. Like junior John Sedam's big red boat is pure retro or which truck has had the most road kill tied to the front. Everyone seems to think that senior Jered Stetter's truck would qualify for that honor.

The contents seen through the windows also seem to provide a clue to the owner's likes and dislikes. Anyone that knows senior Jamie Zehr would know that the frogs in the window of a blue Sunfire would belong to her or that Amanda Strotman lives by the slogan "I didn't do it" stuck to the bumper of her car.

Whatever the make, model, color or personal items in or attached to a car or truck somehow reflects a personal statement about someone's style.

Personality Plus!

Vehicles with an attitude

Attitude is everything

The class of 2003 is often a class that is crazy, mischevious, daring, carefree, fun-loving and outgoing in many ways. Most of the class is known to have their individual groups of friends, but that still does not leave the class split apart. They are still one big group of friends when they are in need of comfort.

The daring things the class enjoys are cliff jumping, mudding, drag racing and just plain having fun. As the year drifts away and they move on into their senior year, they are getting ready for the real world. There will be so many new experiences and expectations for their upcoming year.

A unique fact of the senior class of 2002 is that over half of the senior class are cadets for teachers. Out of 64 students, 37 students in the senior class are cadets.

Most students like cadet because they get away from the everday stress of high-school. The students that take college course classes for academic honors, really enjoy cadet because its a break from everything else.

Most cadets grade papers, read to the kids, take grades, and help run copies for the teachers.

We've learned as cadets, a lot of kids look up to you and that you should have an open personality and like kids.

On my 15th birthday, I had a party at my house. There were five or six of us (I'm not going to mention any names). We were playing "Truth or Dare". Some of our dares were hilarious. One person was to go outside, act like a cat, and eat a piece of cat food. Someone was to go outside, get on top of a picnic table, and howl like a dog. Two of the people drank toilet water. Yes, we flushed the toilet first. Another person was to go inside the closet and act like they were making out with someone. The bad thing was that my mom walked in when someone was in the closet. It was embarrassing to that person. They were also claustrophobic, so when we wouldn't let them out, they started screaming. It was a real exciting night, and we still laugh at the things we made each other do. - Jamie Zehr

One of the best memories I have was when Leah had a party at her house! Everyone was having a good time. Some of the people were playing basketball and some were talking. I was talking to someone, and I smarted them off. They threw me in the pool, clothes and all. Needless to say everyone got thrown in and the Matheis' ran out of towels for us to use. Everyone ended up soaked, but it was a blast! Allison Atkins

Class of 2002 Seniors

104 Ending our Jeep thing...Tina, Holly & Christa

As graduation approaches, we the class of 2002, cannot help but look back and remember all of the times we have experienced together. As we look at the past twelve years we remember the joy, the sadness, and above all the closeness that we have all shared. We had times of joy, like the 2001 double sectional wins in basketball, and we will never forget the loss of our beloved friend and classmate, Leah Matheis. The good and the bad times have caused the development of a bond that will never be broken.

The class of 2002, along with the entire student body has some traditions unique to their own class. One tradition, or maybe it's just irony, is that every time we leave a school it seems to change. For instance when we left Dubois elementary school their was a change in administration. Then, when we left middle school the new renovation was complete and they began block scheduling. Once we began high school, the tradition was continued. We have had three different principals and one principal in training.

Though each class has traditions unique to itself, when they finally become seniors, they pick up traditions that are passed down from senior class to senior class. Included in these traditions are the privileges of passing in the lunch line, getting front row seats at sectional, senior job shadow day, and getting a few extra days off for senior week.

Some traditions last forever, some traditions get lost in time. For example, we were disappointed when we did not get to walk through the "senior doorway" the last day of our junior year.

As we look to our futures, we will never forget the people and the experiences that have shaped us into the people we have become. Congratulations Class of 2002!- Tina Beckman, Holly Burton & Christa Voelkel

One time Kathy Frick, Janelle Woolsey, and I were coming from church in Schnellville and going towards Jasper to get spray paint for a project. Well, while we were going past Betzville Park in Celestine, a bat flew in Janelle's window and hit me in the head. Then, Janelle pulled over and Kathy threw it out. The rest of the night we kept the window up. Then, on the way home from Jasper, a black cat ran across the road. We almost hit a possum, and we thought we saw something in my yard. I'll never forget that night because there were laughs, scares, and bad luck with my friends. Yet, we had a good time. -Alison Betz

One night Britt Spellmeyer, Dana Gehlhausen, Christa Voelkel, and I met Holly Burton and Leah Matheis at Fazoli's in Jasper. I had gotten out of Erin's car, and she was driving around the restaurant. We were all really hyper, so I decided to jump on the hood of her car. She didn't stop driving, so I flew up against her windshield. After our escapade at Fazoli's, all six of us piled into Erin's tiny Grand Am and drove to Taco Bell. We pulled up to the drive thru where Christa proceeded to order two "poop" dip tacos and a roach burrito. She could hardly spit out the words because we were all laughing hysterically. Erin then backed out of the drive thru, because we didn't want anyone to see us. After that, we went to Buy-Low because Lean wanted to stop and talk to ber boyfriend. We were running around the store like crazy people. We were getting ready to leave, but I wouldn't shut the car door until Dana gave me the seat I wanted. Erin decided to drive away anyway, and as she rounded a curve in the parking lot I fell out of the car. Thankfully she wasn't driving very fast. That is a night I will never forget. -Tina Beckman

When we began gathering pictures of Leah, we recieved many great photos (as if Leah ever took a had picture). Well it was hard, but we picked out one pictures that we thought really represented Leah's spirit and personality. She will be loved and missed forever. -The Class of 2002.

Memories

I was in Karla Betz's basement with some friends late at night. We had the wild idea to go t.p.ing. Even though I was injured, I was going to attempt it. I was so excited about going that I jumped over the couch backwards. Before I knew it, Karla was yelling at me. Then I realized why. I fell backwards hitting my knee causing it to jar my ankle. We almost forgot to thank the following people:

MINDY HARRIS

Mrs. Harris has accepted a position at Crawford County High School. She taught Math and Physics for nine years and was also Student Council advisor. We will miss vou!

BILL HOCHGESANG

Mr. Hochgesang was hired in 1993 as an industrial arts. teacher, then later was attendance officer, JV and Varsity boys basketball coach. He will be joining the ranks of the administration as the principal at DMS. Sorry for all the times we misspelled your name!

ALAN MATHEIS

Mr. Matheis will have a new title of Administrative Assistant. He will no longer be teaching business or P.E. classes but will serve as attendance officer, athletic director and Girls Varsity Basketball coach. We've always liked your hand signals!

DENISE MERKEL

Mrs. Merkel worked as a teacher assistant . Some of her jobs included helping students with note-taking, field trips, and took students to their jobs. She will be teaching at the Dubois Community Pre-School at St. Peter's Church, Thanks!

When we think about tradition that we hate to see end, there is one in particular that comes to mind. Being editors, we have a better understanding of all the work that has to be done. We especially see how many late nights and how much extra time Mrs. Parr puts in. Mrs. Parr works incredibly hard to make every yearbook unique and as great as it can possibly be. Another thing that can be said about Mrs. Parr is that she doesn't look for recognition, as we found out while secretly looking for pictures of her for this page. She tends to stay behind the camera. Mrs. Parr's drive will greatly be missed next year and whoever takes over has a great legacy to live up to. Congratulations Mrs. Parr on the thirteen yearbooks you brought to life.-T. Beckman and C. Voelkel

"Thank you, thank you, thank you... goes out to the 2001-2002 yearbook staff. I can bonestly say that there wasn't a day that went by that I wasn't thankful for having such an awesome class! Each and everyone one of you played an important part in getting this book published. You made this last book enjoyable and I truly appreciate all your hard work (sorry Christa about your surprise page).44 -Julie Parr Handing out the math award...to sophomore Stephanie Cave is Mrs.

Assisting students during... the school day is Mrs. Merkel with Mandy Hopf and Kellyn Snyder.

Presenting an award...at Sr. Banquet is Mr. Hochgesang and senior Kathy Frick and Mrs.

MARGARET SPOONER

Mrs. Spooner is currently working at Deaconess St. Joseph's Hospital in the wound care center. Thanks for all your help tutoring, taking money in the cafeteria, supervising study halls, and job coaching!

Coaching will still be., one of Mr. Matheis's extra-curricular activities. Please note that these were the only staff changes when these pages were mailed on July 1. Thanks!

It's a JEEP Thing

... you wouldn't understand

As the year comes to a close everyone can look back at the past year together. No one will forget the laughs, dreams, wins, losses, and moments shared together. With memories and traditions of high school constantly changing with the student body there are many traditions that hopefully will always continue. The closeness of the senior class, whether it be from the realization of going their separate ways or just the many years spent together, is a tradition everyone hopes will live on.

Secondly, the tradition of students being unique to themselves is always an attribute that can expand and diversity our horizons. Another tradition whether good or bad, the upperclassmen has the responsibility to train in the new freshmen so they can know and pass on these traditions year after year. Giving back to the community is a wonderful asset this school is trying to establish, such as paying a dollar to wear a hat on corporation wide hat day. This tradition helps the student body give back to the community especially Rileys children's hospital. Last of all, with the tragedy of September 11th, the student body has shown more respect to the American flag by saying the pledge of allegiance every morning. Even though this is a national tradition it has become a more meaningful tradition after 9-11.

Because we are a small close-knit school, continuing the Jeep traditions aren't that hard, but explaining these traditions to others is nearly impossible. That's why everyone should simply say "It's a Jeep thing ... you wouldn't understand." -Holly Burton
