Pieces of the Puzzle

New Cats in the Crowd

Rounding the corner, he looks at his watch. He recalls his class schedule, trying to figure where he's supposed to be going. He hurries up the hallway, trying hard not to appear lost. His head whips around to respond to the calling of his name by a friend he made just yesterday. Smiling and adding a wave, he heads into a room, hoping that it is the correct room. He thinks to himself, "I can't wait till I get used to this place." After a couple of days, he'll begin to fit in and will then become another piece of the puzzle.

Before school starts, Chris Deckard catches up on some last minute homework.

During his lunch period, Chad Bailey roams the gym.

Mr. Land prepares himself for his first year as a government teacher.

Pieces of the Puzzle

Crystal Denu attempts to open her locker to retrieve some books before school ends.

The new Principal, Mr. Johnson, takes in a football game.

New students are welcomed at the Student Council's New Student Breakfast.

In between going from class to class, Hannes Burkard stops for a smile.

Students at Ease

Students dash from hall to hall with a load of books and a schedule running in their minds, darting in and out of the herd coming towards them. After five days of this chaos, students want to take a deep breath and fall into a phase of relaxation that lasts the whole weekend. With friends, they add another memory to the puzzle of their high school years.

Tara Schroering and Kristen Johanning are all smiles walking in downtown Philadelphia during the National Catholic Youth Conference in November.

Matt Hogan gets a head start on his weekend winddown as he waits among friends for the bus.

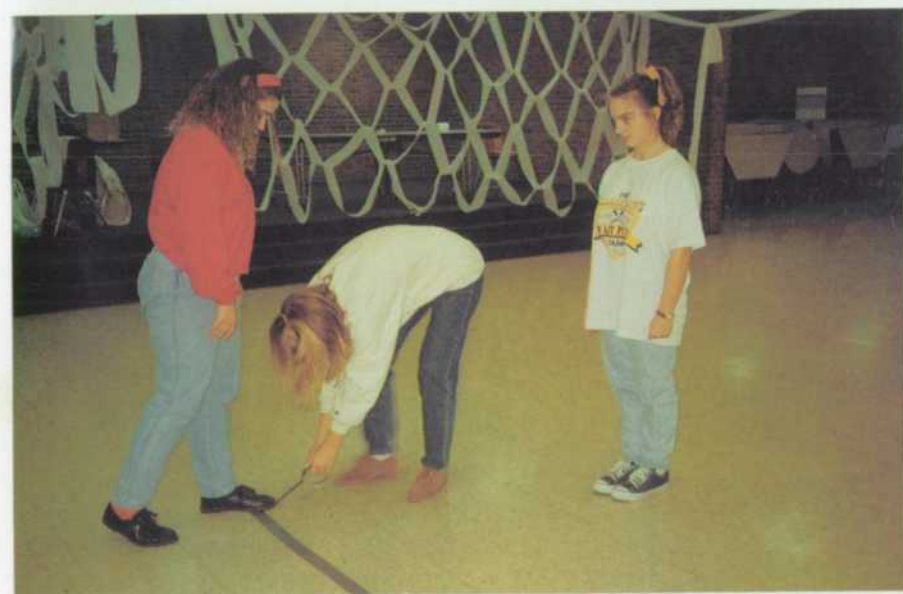

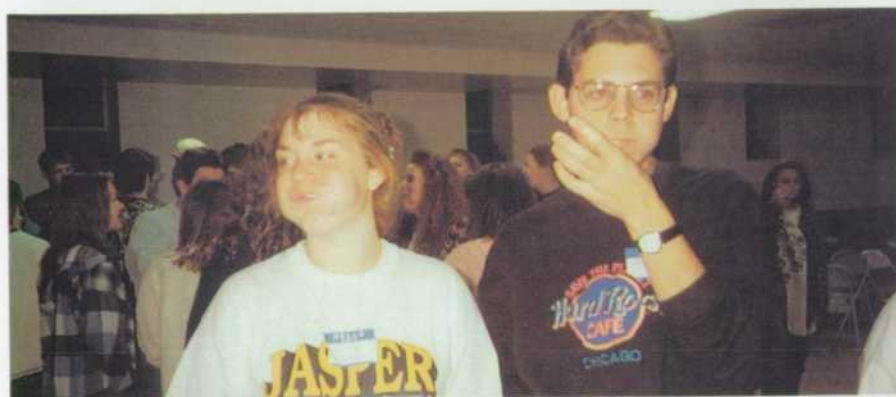

Preparing to zoom off to another exciting band practice, Lori Nugent boards Lori Sullivan's moped.

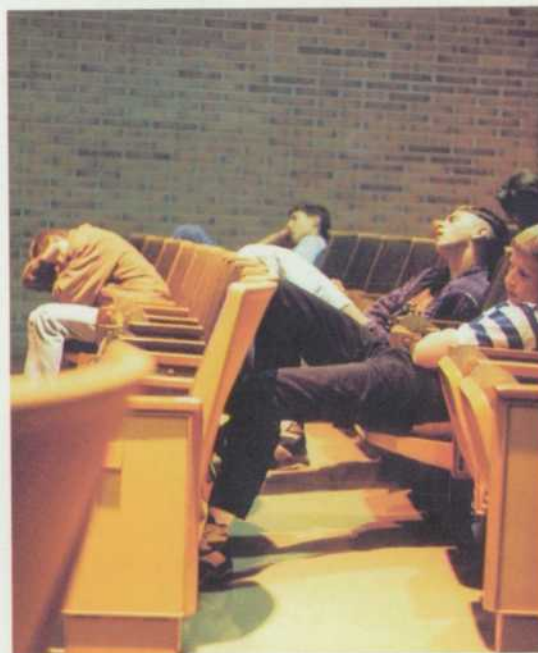

Heath Vonderheide is playing a game of raquetball with Mr. Jochum after a challenge made in Econ. class. (Heath wins 15-12!)

Tim Fuhrman and Ann Miller try to stuff the marshmallows in during a game of Chubby Bunny at a Jr. Civitan event.

Dances are one of the ways student relax. Here Tasia Hedinger, Abby Bennett, and Audrey Vogler help with set-up for the MORP dance sponsored by the Student Council.

Study Hall appears to be the popular time to catch up on sleep missed the night before. Here, the proper technique is displayed by Marty Mehringer, Nathan McNabb, Joey Birkle, and Jobe Zoglman.

Bosom Buddies

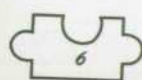

Sharing secrets, gossiping about other students, or just going out and having fun! What would a student do without a special friend?

Going through many years of school together and watching each other mature, there was always a bosom buddy there when you needed to laugh or cry.

Huddling around their lockers, Allison Matheis, Lori Matthews, and Emily Eckert talk about their first year in high school.

Bosom Buddies

Kristi Mehringer looks innocent as Tasia Hedinger laughs because she's the one who's really guilty.

Ashley Gruelich, Lisa Schuler, Jill Shelton, and Heather Reyling are all smiles about playing in the 1993 State Volleyball Finals.

The JHS soccer team gets a show of support from Brad Schnarr, Andy Hulsman, Sara McDaniel, Emily Forbes, and Mark Birk.

Juniors Julie Wagner and Dana Scherle express the true meaning of friendship.

For having the best sales in the foreign language fund raiser, Katie Weikert, Jenny Miller, Lori Sullivan, Michelle Hopf, Allison Ferley, and Beth Fuhrman get a ride in a limo.

Midnight Masquerade

"When is it?"

"Who are you taking?"

"What will I wear?"

What is the cause of all of this anxiety? Why, school dances of course. These gala festivities, sponsored by the school, the Student Council, or another club, are scheduled to celebrate a holiday, a special occasion, or for no reason at all. They provide a reason to get down and boggie. Fun is sure to fit into this piece of the puzzle.

Aaron LaGrange and Sara McDaniel show their stuff at the Snowball dance.

With other couples joining in,, Kristine Giesler and Jared Brosmer enjoy the final dance together.

Showing their hippie style, Jennifer Bevier, Dawn Hautsch, Ryan Kluesner, and Arah Leslie wish for peace at the Halloween Dance.

At the Morp Dance, Heather Reyling and Dereck Vogler dance the night away.

With peace signs waving, Gala Linette, Dana Gress, and Sally Wickman show their grooviness at the Halloween Dance.

Kenny Weyer, Adam Stemle, and friends relax at the Snowball Dance.

Wildcat Spirit

JHS Spirit is different! It's shown not only for basketball, football, and other sports, but also for band, academics, and clubs. It brings pride to the community. Every student is proud when he can say he graduated from JHS.

Mrs. Nordhoff speaks to the crowd watching the volleyball team load the bus for the State finals.

During a varsity football game, Mr. Johnson watches from the turf while we play offense.

Before the State finals, volleyball banners were made for each player.

Mr. Stenftenagel watches his cross country team during a rigorous practice.

Gina Mehringer hangs out the window of the bus to say good-bye to friends before leaving for the State finals.

Some of the many balloons received by volleyball players are displayed on the office counter.

Good luck balloons were sent to the girls before volleyball finals.

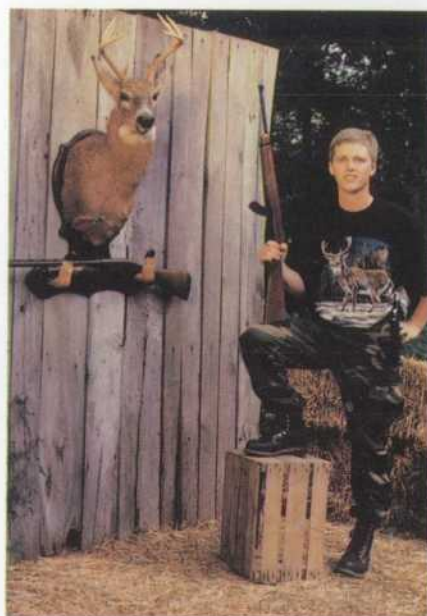

Seniors cheer for the football team during a pep rally at the high school.

Talents and Interests

Have you ever wondered how your classmates spend their spare time? Students have a wide range of hobbies and interests. From rock climbing to collecting baseball caps, students demonstrate talent and skill when it comes to doing something they like. Although spare time seems to go by fast, every student has some time to put together another piece of the puzzle.

Senior Macy Kalb's interest in playing the guitar may sometime explode into a dream come true.

Deer hunting and being outdoors are Brian Nord's favorite pastimes.

Showing their true courage, Aaron LaGrange and Chad Schnarr display the proper way to repell during a trip to Patoka Lake.

Students and Parents

Real life isn't a soap opera. Believe it or not, many students do get along with their parents. Whether it's being supported in the school musicals, chaperoned at school dances, or cheered on during a sporting event, parents will always be there for their children helping solve the puzzles of life.

Many parents help out for school related activities as shown here by Tracy Watts' mother and sister during a color guard practice.

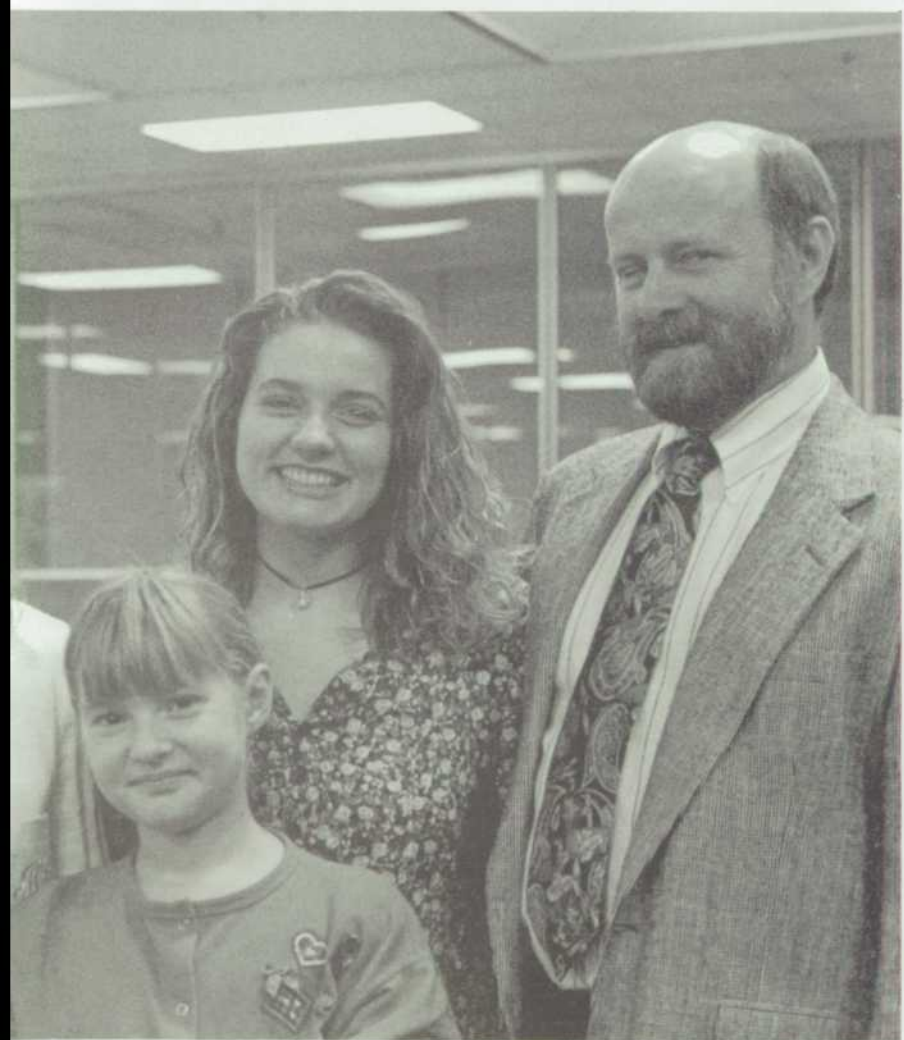

Going to church and spending time together are a couple of Jane Stallman's favorite things to do with her family.

Many families have the traditional family tree picture, as shown by Sara McDaniel's family.

Stephanie Mehringer enjoys spending time with her mom, dad, and little sister.

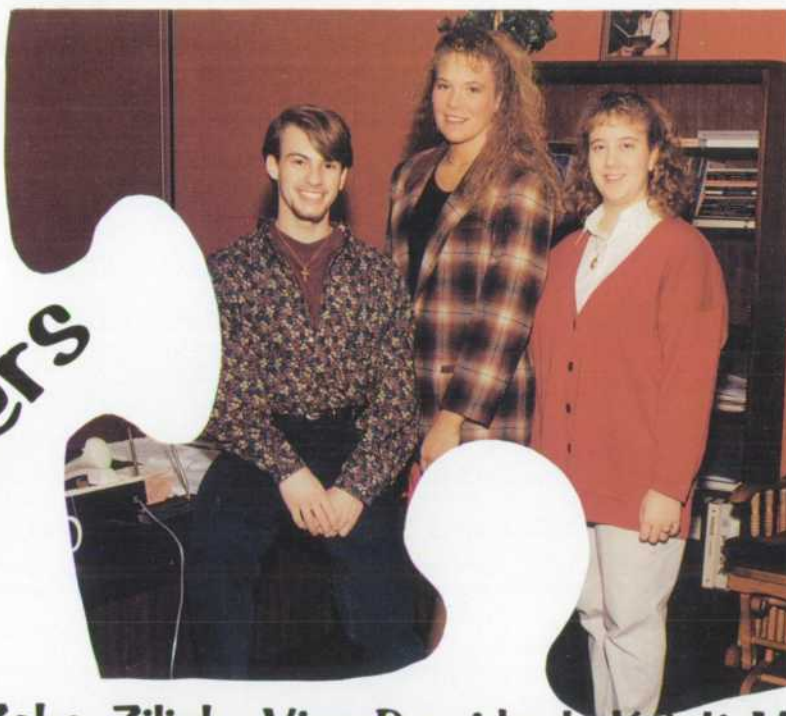

Senior Jamy Schuler's mother and freshman Christy Stout's father help out at the Snowball Dance held December 24.

After the Student Council induction, Tasia Hedinger's family shows how proud they are of her.

Amid the college applications and scholarship forms, we, the class of '94, look back on our twelve years of education and reminisce. We remember the naptimes and letter-people in kindergarten, the rocks in our shoes after recess; we remember when riding the bus was the extent of our social status. Now it's the end of the beginning and the beginning of our future. We'll lose old friends and make new lifelong companions. As we look back, we realize that these years have comprised one of the most important pieces of the puzzle of our lives.

The Class of 1994

The day was May 27, 1994. 192 Seniors walked into JHS for their last time as students, and walked out as graduates. As the choir sang, the band played, and tears were shed. Seniors reminisced about special times and lifetime memories. "What a long strange trip it's been. All that's left to do is Smile, Smile, Smile."

While waiting for classmates to receive their diplomas, Alissa Becker, Abby Bennett, Dean Collins, and Michael Bennett exchange a few words.

Mr. Jessee shakes Brian Hubers' hand, congratulating him on a job well done.

Rachel Wessel and Jeremy Slunder march down the aisle as the band plays "Pomp and Circumstance."

Eliza Hook and fellow graduates sit patiently through the ceremonies as they await the laughter and tears during the remainder of graduation night.

Realizing it's almost time to march into the gym, Gretchen Himsel, Kerri Hochgesang, and Stacey Hohl smile as they prepare to face the world.

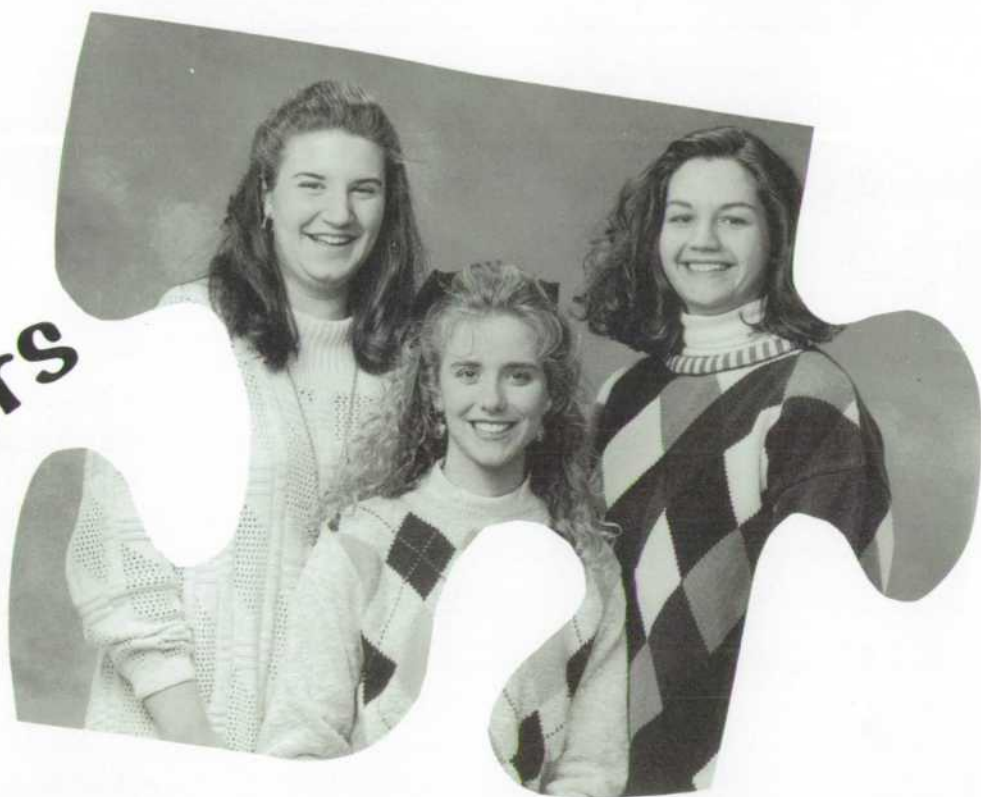

Crystal Denu, Adam Dawkins, and Nora Benninger wait nervously to walk into the gym.

Billy McCart and Melinda McIntosh consider the seriousness of the night.

Underclassmen

Juniors

Lori Eckerle, Vice President; Niki Hudson, President; Tracy Mundy, Secretary/Treasurer

The junior class kept themselves busy with the normal things, as in every other year. They built floats, decorated halls, and dressed up — but this year was different than the previous two years. To get ready for Prom, they set up committees and meetings, they sold concessions at the basketball games to raise money and amid all of that, they took the SAT's and started looking at their college choices. It was a very productive year for the juniors, and they now have memories of this piece of the puzzle.

Sophomores

Kelly Bawel, President;
Tara Kieffner, Secretary/Treasurer; Audrey Vogler, Vice President

As a class, the sophomores achieved many things. They won Powder Puff Football, and they placed first in the Pep Rally Spirit Float, Homecoming Float, and the banner contest for the last home basketball game. Among other things, the sophomore class also started a monthly newsletter in order to keep the class more informed. They did a great job welcoming in the freshmen and making them feel at home. The Class of 1996 is moving up the high school ladder, and now it's over half-way there.

Freshmen

Jennifer Miller, Secretary/Treasurer;
Matt Mauck, Vice President; Katie Weikert, President

The freshmen dealt with the trials of everyday high school life, quickly adjusting to a new building. At the beginning of the year, their inexperience showed as they lost their way in the seemingly huge building. However, their perseverance showed as they participated in the school spirit events, such as dressing up on designated days, building their homecoming float, and decorating the halls. They joined school clubs and took charge, showing the upperclassmen that the freshmen were here to stay.

What Are Some of your strange experiences with the telephone?

The telephone is possibly the most valuable invention known to man. But even "reaching out and touching someone" can present humorous mishaps.

"A guy I know works at WBDC and I thought he was working one day so I called out there but he wasn't there so I quickly thought of a song and requested it."

Gala Linette

"I work at Buy-Low and we have this phone that has no phone number; it's only used for ordering. One night it kept ringing so I answered it and the person wanted to talk to so-and-so. He said he was dialing 482-2022 when the number at Buy-Low is 482-2366. I never found out how that number got involved on that phone."

Kristi Mehringer is all smiles as she is crowned queen by the basketball captain, Mike Fischer.

Mr. Leffert and students act out "Jabberwocky" at the Poetry Alive! convocation.

Courtney Dunn and her date have a good time at Prom.

Seniors ham it up at the Football Homecoming.

FOOTBALL HOMECOMING

The song "I Cross My Heart" by George Strait rang through Alumni Stadium on October 15 as the homecoming court marched through the football field. Adam Dawkins and Abby Bennett were crowned king and queen by Student Council members Tasia Hedinger and Zeke Ziliak. Gretchen Himsel announced the names that evening. The football team made the night even more memorable by defeating Mt. Vernon 62-0.

The highlight of the evening was when Zeke Ziliak crowned Abby Bennett 1993 Homecoming Queen.

The senior attendants of the homecoming court are Adam Dawkins and Abby Bennett, Nicole Haas and Michael Bennett, and Leah Robberts and Bob Vonderheide.

Juniors: Neil Hopf, Kris Giesler, Jayme Hochmeister, and Chris Keusch

Sophomores: John Strange, Lindsay Sutton, Angie Weisheit, and Jeff Wolf

Freshmen: Phil Buehler, Tiffany Becker, Jenny Renner, and Mike Denton

Basketball Homecoming

A memorable evening came to life on the hardwood floor of the high school gymnasium as members of the Homecoming Court entered the scene. The cool weather outside was nothing when compared to the warm feeling inside as Kristi Mehringer and Cisco Rubio were crowned 1994 Basketball Homecoming Queen and King by Cory Marks and Mike Fischer. The evening was capped off as Jasper won the game against Washington.

Cisco Rubio watches as Kristi Mehringer is presented with a bouquet of flowers by Cory Marks.

James Wuchner, Alicia Giesler, Christa Schuler, and Joey Birkle represent the Sophomore class on the Homecoming Court.

Convocations & Plays

Always wanting variety on the stage, Jasper High School students were able to see four presentations this year. The Community Arts Commission presented Nexus and Poetry Alive, the Navy Band had students and teachers dancing on the gym floor, and Tri-Cap's spokeswomen told of its new student services program. Plays included Jasper Onstage's performance of "The Curious Savage" and three one-act plays. The choir performed "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," and the Forensics Club performed the children's play, "Red vs. the Wolf."

Leah Robberts and Jennifer Rumbach speak with Jane Chappell about the new Tri-Cap program.

Plays often consist of more than just actors. Lisa Schwenk and Seth Lowe rest in the pit during a practice.

Mr. Howard anticipates a kiss from Mrs. Burns as they act out a skit during the Poetry Alive convocation.

Students enjoyed the visit from the Navy Band. Kids got out in the middle of the gym and danced.

Poetry Alive brought many poems "alive" during a visit in April. Here a group of freshmen interprets "Jabberwocky."

Narrator of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," Leah Robberts sings.

Sara Geiger and Rachael Himself perform in "Chocolate Cake," one of the one-act plays.

Junior Senior Prom Night

We'll take you far and away! The Junior class decorated the high school gym and cafeteria with this theme. Walking through the streets of New York or sitting under the Eiffel Tower, 500 students who attended were enchanted. The Prom King and Queen were Brian Nord and Nicole Haas; Scott Pride and Mandy Meyer were crowned Prince and Princess. After this event, people danced to the theme song of the night, "Dance of Love." At the Post Prom, the gym was decorated with the motto "Into the Jungle." Students played games and won prizes throughout the early morning hours. At 4:30 a.m. a long, wonderful night ended.

Rachael Wessel and her date smile.

Junior class members did a great job decorating under Mr. Steve Burke's guidance.

Stacey Hohl, Heather Schnaus, Adria Brelage, Cory Marks, and Emily Forbes enjoy their Senior Prom.

In the formal portrait are Prom Princess Mandy Meyer, Queen Nicole Haas, King Brian Nord, and Prince Scott Pride.

At Post Prom Emily Forbes and Adria Brelage had a good time.

Mark Rubino tries to win the belching contest.

Nathan White and Andrea Schmitt side-step to the music.

Getting ready to dance are Angie Moyes and Chad Hoffman.

DJ for Boogie Tunes, Kurt Englert, and Mr. Jesse discuss the program.

Academics

In her Textiles class, Kerri Hochgesang finishes putting the knots on her project.

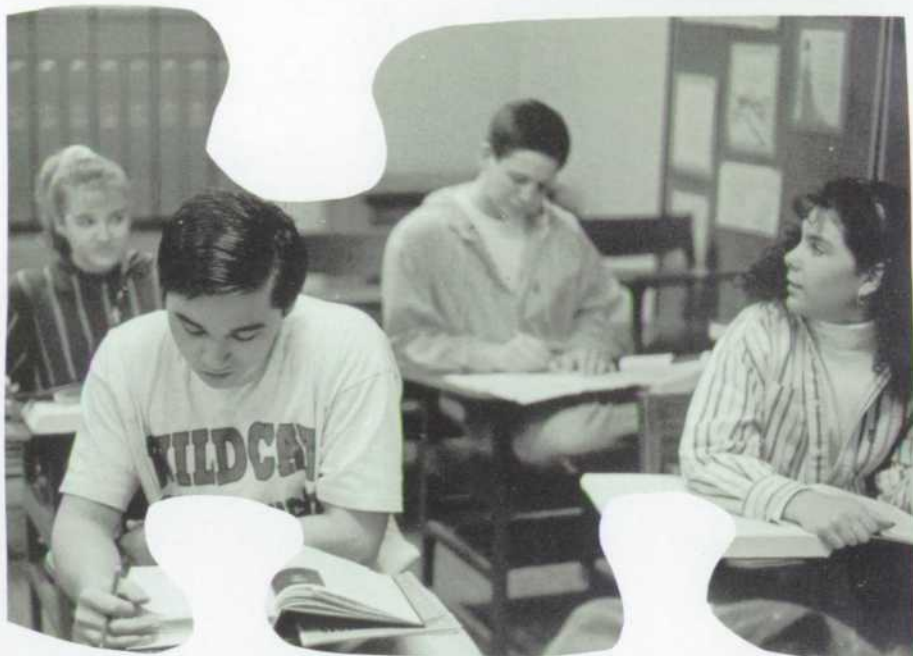

Chad Vogler and Ryan Fromme spend time with the nursing home residents for one of their service projects in Agriculture.

Perhaps not all students believe it, but academics is the reason they come to Jasper High School every day. The basics lay the foundations for learning throughout life. Many classes allow students to broaden their intellect in exciting ways. With the talented teaching staff at JHS, we students will always have an edge.

Stephanie Persohn, Brian Leon, Derek Wood, and Jennifer Seger work on their literature.

Standing proudly, Trey Small and Brian Smith show off the suit of armor they made for the Shakespearean Festival in Mrs. Fromme's British Lit class.

Overseeing her Eggster with care, Jennifer Knies is doing her assignment for Sociology.

Cooks and custodians have something in common: they both work for the students. The cooks work all morning long to prepare enough food for 800 students. Then they clean the tables for the following day.

The custodians work all day long to keep the school clean. They fix broken chairs, clean bathrooms, and scrape gum off the carpet. After school some custodians stay to clean the classrooms.

Understanding the Times Social Studies Courses

Understanding social studies means understanding how cultures are different, what happened in the past, and why laws and policies have developed today. The Social Studies department hopes to help students learn how things occurred so they won't make the mistakes of yesterday. Courses such as world history and economics, as well as sociology and anthropology allow us to see where we fit in the world's puzzle.

Marching Wildcats Are More Than They Appear

Many band members would agree that band is a class, sport, and club all in one. Members get together every day during school (making it a class), to practice in order to compete for placings (making it a sport), and they are led by elected officers (making it a club). The three aspects of the organization all led to a successful seventh placing at State contest.

Lisa Schwenk and Lori Kirchoff watch the soccer game. They were among other members of the band who played a pep session for the soccer team.

Learning the Trade Technology

To keep up with the changes in today's complex job market, students enroll in the courses offered by the Technology Department. Automotive, wood, drafting, and graphics skills are in demand today. With an increasing emphasis on Tech Prep, classes became quite popular.

PD Group Spirit: We Know How To Show It

The students in the LPD Group enjoyed creating spirit throughout the school by selling spirit towels, flags, and sweatshirts.

These items were taken to sectionals and used at many games to promote spirit. In the classroom, students became self-supporting citizens. They were involved in a large selection of in school sports, clubs, and part time jobs after school hours. Mr. Mike Kluemper helped out in the classroom towards the end of the school year.

Planning for the Future ICE & HOSA

Both ICE and HOSA prepared students for the future. HOSA students studied various duties involved in a medical career. They learned CPR, first aid, and correct hand-washing techniques. In the second semester they received hands-on experience by working at the hospital. ICE students had class time one period a day. During this time, they learned techniques which enable them to find better jobs. During another period they worked in various businesses.

Saying Goodbye Three Retire

Ed Schultheis

Rex May

Herschel Zehr

Mr. Zehr

Mr. Herschel Zehr spent his entire teaching career at Jasper High School. Having taught 34 years, he notes that he is glad about retirement. Although he cites no particularly bad experience during his tenure, he states that he does hate to see "so many teenagers waste the wonderful opportunities to get an excellent education at JHS." He adds that he has seen a "general decline" in positive attitudes in the student body. What he takes with him, however, will be the "real satisfaction" of seeing students who have completed the math curriculum succeed in the careers they pursue. His plans are to listen to classical music, read, play golf, and perhaps do volunteer work. He also hopes to learn things for his "own edification — anything but mathematics."

Mr. May

Mr. Rex May taught at JHS 25 years, following teaching careers at Oaktown, Midland, and Dubois High Schools. He notes that helping "students achieve" and "athletes improve" during his teaching and coaching tenure has been rewarding. He states that when "students return after graduation and say 'Thank you for what you did for me in class, sports, or in helping me get a job,' their thanks makes spending years in coaching and teaching worthwhile." What bothers him is that some students do not take advantage of the opportunity to study and learn as much as they can. During his retirement, he plans to travel, to watch his grandchildren grow up, to work part time at the Ruxer Golf Course, and to just enjoy life.

Mr. Schultheis

Mr. Ed Schultheis spent 35 years at JHS, as a Social Studies and Physical Education teacher; as a basketball, football, and track coach; and as Athletic Director for the last 17 years. He cites seeing students come back to thank him "for some success they've achieved" as a highlight of his career. He vividly recalls winning his first basketball sectional and is proud of winning five Sectionals in a row and going to SemiState two times during his years of coaching. As Athletic Director, he has been a part of winning 24 all-sports trophies in the last 25 years. He has no immediate plans to do anything special during retirement, but he hopes to "catch up" on things around the house and travel to visit his grown children.

Student Council

The student governmental body of JHS participated in over 40 activities. Among these were hosting the Snowball Dance, MORP, Powder Puff Football, and Basketball and Football Homecoming. Among other projects were Slave Day, Spring Clean-up, 8th Grade Orientation, the Christmas Dinner, and the Teacher Appreciation Breakfast. The Council took Kelly Bawel to a Representatives Assembly where she was chosen a 2-year District 11 Representative. The group raised over $1400 for Riley's Children's Hospital. Mr. Elmer Brames advised the Council and stepped down as Advisor in May, following eleven years of sponsorship.

cademic Teams

All three teams represented the school well. Polly Van Doren of Channel 7 News was MC for the Spell Bowl held in October at Forest Park. Jasper placed first among Class II entries. In January the Academic Decathlon team entered State competition. Jasper finished first in the State in essay writing. The team won over 20 medals, receiving 4th place overall. When the Super Bowl team competed at Vincennes on April 30, members placed third in science, second in English, and first in Math, Social Studies, Fine Arts, and Interdisciplinary competitions.

Service Clubs

Jasper High School was proud to sponsor service clubs that worked to accomplish many goals. Junior Civitan was over sixty members strong; they participated in the Radio-Thon aired on WBDC, the Can-Do-A-Thon, COPE, and other projects. Octagon was over twenty members strong with their biggest project being the Blood Drive in February. They co-sponsored the Halloween Dance with the Art Club. The Key Club had over 20 members. They participated in the Adopt-A-Highway program and went to the annual convention.

Like always, the girls of the Color Guard spent free time in the gym, tossing and spinning flags and rifles and dancing to the count of the music. The selection of music was called "First Circle," and the whole show reminded spectators of circles. Colorful hula hoops were used in the performances. Cheerleading is often referred to as a year round sport, the only such sport at Jasper High School. Cheerleaders started out the year as soon as tryouts were completed in the spring. During the summer months they went to the NCA camp to improve their abilities. Once the season began, they cheered for football, girls' basketball, and volleyball, and boys' basketball. They worked hard to keep spirits high during all times by planning pep sessions, making signs, and supporting each team.

Varsity Volleyball

On Their Way to Market Square Again

High spirits could be seen every time the varsity played during their 32-7 season. Gina Mehringer qualified for 1st team All-State, South All-Star Team, and All Conference. Jill Shelton broke all school records in assists and made the All-Conference Team. Jill Auffart now holds the school record in digs. Diane Seng made the All-Conference

Team. Coach Zehr commented, "The ultimate goal of every high school athlete is to play in the state finals. The 1993 team worked very hard to achieve this goal. It is a tremendous finish for our seniors, something they will be proud of for years to come."

Bursting with Pride

JV and Freshmen Have Nothing to Hide

What was the best thing about the JV Lady Cats? "I would have to say that this was the most energetic, enthusiastic, fun group I have ever had the pleasure to work with. I will miss them next year," said Coach Joan Schaeffer. The Cats won the Big 8 Conference by going undefeated. Overall, the team suffered only 2 losses. With 9 sophomores leading the way, they all shared the role of team captains and helped each other out when they needed it.

Pumped with Heart & Pride

Cats Have a Winning Season

The football team was pumped with heart, pride, and most importantly, the will to win. They ended the season with an 8-2 record overall (and the Conference Championship). They lost to only Tell City and Heritage Hills in the final game of the sectional, but beat teams like Prince-

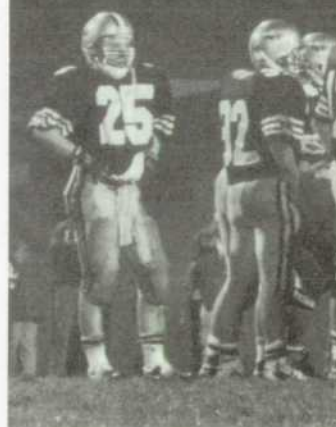

Scott Friedman and Nathan Rasche look to see where the ball will be marked.

Basketball Cats

Win 15 Again

The Varsity Basketball Cats were successful, winning fifteen games for the third consecutive year. According to Coach Schultheis this was accomplished with a predominately underclassman group. Mike Lewis led the team with 20 points per game,

3 steals, and 3 assists. He was also the Dubois County scoring leader. Mike Fischer was the team captain. "Fischer did a great job," said Coach Schultheis. "This team built a great foundation for next year."

"I feel as though our team learned to give on a consistent basis," stated Coach Dan Sherry of the JV team. "Matt Mauck did an excellent job of handling the ball, and team captains Phil Kendall and Ryan Erny set excellent examples on and off the court," stated Sherry. The team finished 9 and 10, having a good year for building relationships and character. The freshman team finished with a winning season. Josh Keller and Doug Wigand were team captains, and "both were good leaders and helped get the team fired up," stated Coach Dave Lesko.

Row 3: Pat Zehr, Cassandra DeKemper, Emily Eckert, Megan Jeffries, Lisa Schuler, Debbie Mehringer, Brandy House, Gayle Jochum.

Coach Pat Zehr checks the action as Terra Blessinger goes around for one more lap.

Lisa Kress runs in for the win.

Jeff Schnierle shows his strength in the shot-put.

Jasper runners compete against Tell City in the hurdles.

Experienced Talent

Academic All-State Member

The Varsity Softball team ended the season with an 8-9-1 record in the regular season. Tamera Welp was named a member of the Academic All-State softball team by the IGSCA. Earlier she had been named pre-season All-State by "Hoosier Diamond" softball magazine. Coach Dana Bromm stated,

"We've had the most experienced talent of our three years, but we fell short of winning some games this year." Team captains were Tamera Welp, Tara Schroering, and Dana Wilz.

Julie Wagner swings and misses the pitch.

Wins

Heritage Hills, Mater Dei, Tecumseh, W. Memorial, BNL, Vincennes, Mt. Vernon, N. Daviess

Losses

Keeping the Ball Alive

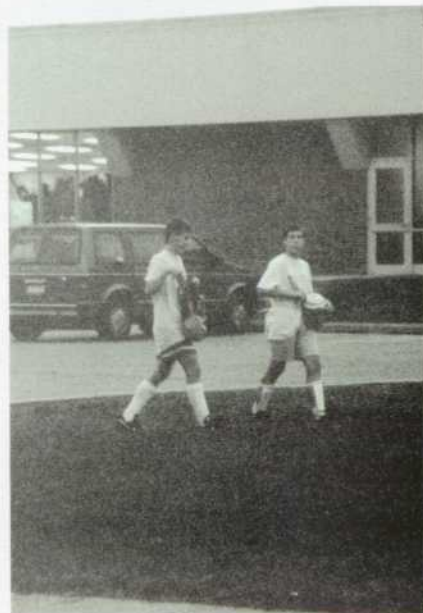

Soccer Team Shows Stamina

Pete Massat coached the soccer team. He noted, "We had the opportunity to defend our sectional championship." Brian Sohovich, who was the team captain, scored a team record of four goals in one game. This record was set in the Forest Park game.

Mark Rubino received the Booster Club scholarship for being an outstanding player.

Showing support for sports other than football and basketball, the Pep Band shows up for a soccer game too.

A team member attempts to score a goal.

Trying to keep the ball alive, Brian Sohovich kicks the ball to Andreas Aamodt.

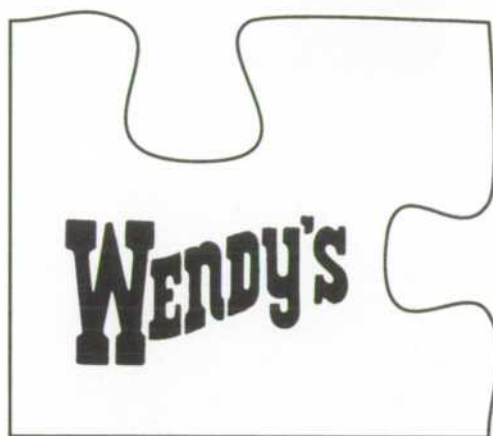

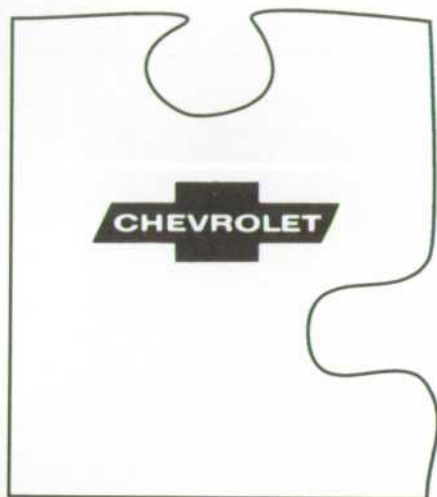

Travis Erny and Brad Kluesner take time out for a break during soccer practice.

Scott Hagan looks for an open teammate for a pass.

We Remember

René Voegerl

July 5, 1976 — February 13, 1986

In loving memory of René J. Voegerl. Her family and friends will always miss her dearly as we think of our sweet memories of our times with her.

— Michelle D. Voegerl

Jennifer Lynn
Soellner

May 24, 1976 — April 26, 1991

"Friends Forever," we always said.
Nothing could ever change that.
Until the end we'd be together,
Friends Forever — stay that.

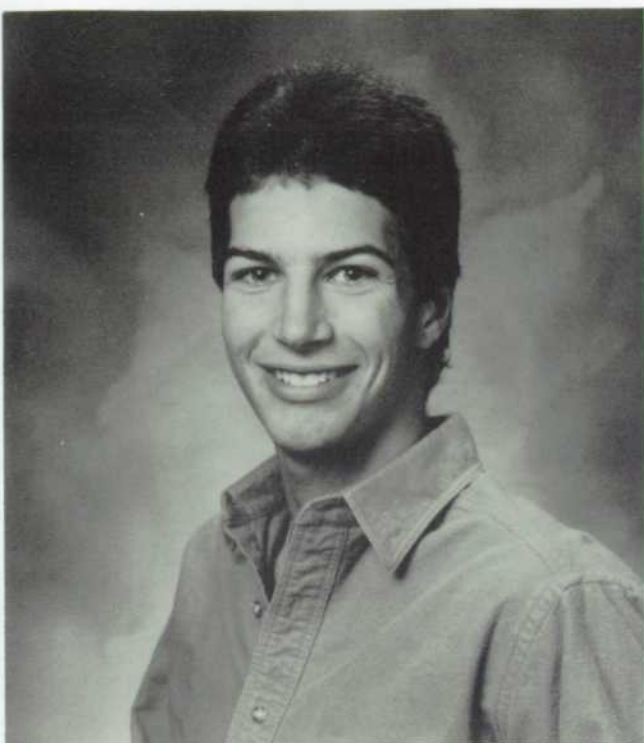

Now I find we're both alone,
And goodbye seems like forever.
But in my heart is the memory,
And there — you will always be.

— Jennifer Knies

We Remember

Our Classmates

Scott Schneider

March 16, 1976 — August 18, 1992

A select few of us are created to be the cohesive material which binds us to our life on this world. Scott's wit in life brought us a deeper esteem for our life on earth, and his death gives us hope and faith in a life beyond. The love Scott generated is enough to last a lifetime — and beyond.

In remembrance with undying love and utmost respect,

— Zeke R. Ziliak

Tim Bohnert

July 6, 1976 — September 22, 1993

All we can do now is think about the memories that Tim left us and the great times enjoyed while he was here. As long as those thoughts don't die, he will always have a place in our hearts.

— Alan Schnaus

When I care about someone as much as I do you,
Being apart is hard to get used to.
Sometimes the one thing that would please me most . . .

Is simply seeing you.

I knew that I'd miss you.

I just didn't know I'd miss you as much as I do.

— Bruce J. Dotterweich

Closing . . .

Rough layouts, grease pencils, folio tabs, and proper croppers, these are the ties that bind. The bonds that the six of us formed are stone to last as long as the memories themselves. We prefer to call this a memory book for two reasons. One is that it holds memories of the year for the whole school to share. But more importantly, it brought six people together in a unique way, so that they made their own memories to share with each other. We'll go our separate ways, and be separate entities, but one thing is for sure: we'll always be a part of each other. We are a family.

We'd like to thank everyone for their cooperation throughout the year. Without the help of teachers, coaches, fellow students, patrons, and others, this book would not be possible. We'd especially like to thank Mrs. Clara Fromme, the backbone of the operation. Without her guidance, patience, and spunk, we'd have fallen. She kept ideas flowing, and she showed us that if we want it, we should go for it. Also thanks to Mrs. Debbie Dauby for her hours of help with indexing.

We're honored that we could be a part of something so phenomenal. This is not just a book for signing autographs; it's a published record of some of your history. Everyone keeps a yearbook, and we were pleased to present this "piece of your puzzle."

The yearbook class was a close-knit family all year. Here, we lift Mrs. Fromme about four feet off a chair in a game called "Light as a Feather."

Nora

"Yearbook Breakfasts" at Jerry's were not uncommon. On one of the last days of school, we all met and acted a "little goofy." It all comes with the job!

Colophon . . .

The 64th volume of the Jasper High School "J" was printed by Herff Jones in Montgomery, Alabama. Jasper's Herff Jones representative was Stephen F. Pumphrey. The folio tabs are printed in 24 point Bingham Script, the body and captions are Century Schoolbook, and other typefaces are Newbury, Mead Bold, Spring, and Brush. Final shipment of pages was made on July 11, 1994.

All 774 books ordered were personalized. The cost was $22 the first week of sales and $27 thereafter.

Seniors chose their own photographers for portraits, while underclass photos and the endsheet photo in front of the new City Hall were taken by McCarty Associates. Special thanks goes to Robert McCarty and his staff and to the Herald for sports group photos.
