Through "Untamed", you are shown what really goes on in the life of a student at Jasper High School. This theme shows that students are ready for anything that comes their way, whether it is through academics, clubs, or sports. This "Untamed" book looks at students' enthusiasm, passion, and drive within the school society.

This year students are full of school spirit, following the lead of the Student Council's vow to "bring spirit back." New teachers and incoming freshmen were welcomed into the "Untamed" world of Jasper High School. Students were able to participate in a variety of activities ranging from clubs to sports. No matter what, there was always some way for each and every student to show how "Untamed" they are.

Born to be WILD

As game time approached, a swarm of students filled the stands dressed in accordance to the night's specific spirit theme. Exuberant students cheered wildly for their fellow Wildcat athletes. Seniors led the rest of the student body in many chants and cheers during the games and the numerous pep sessions held throughout the year. During these pep sessions, students got involved in class competitions ranging from peanut butter sandwich eating to the "manliest man" competition.

Spirit was shown throughout the year with the help of the Student Council Spirit Committee. Members of the committee helped get students excited on game days by playing music during passing periods on Fridays. Students helped support our teams throughout the different sport seasons with their spirit that shows they are very proud to be Wildcats.

Where did you go this summer? Whether you went to Spain, Germany, Florida or stayed right here in Jasper, you probably spent your summer doing something worthwhile. Some students had a once in a lifetime learning experience as they traveled overseas. Bridget Gehlhausen and Nyssa Owens made their way to Spain over the summer. Bridget spent ten days in Spain, traveling to many different cities in the country, learning to cook, dance, and experience a different culture. Nyssa was able to travel to Spain through the IU honors program. Her favorite memory was the eighteenth birthday party her host family threw for her. France was another country taken over by JHS students. Rafael Santos traveled to France through the IU honors program as well. He stayed with a host family and got to experience the country first hand. Megan Lechner was able to have an amazing summer while staying inside the US borders, going to Myrtle Beach with one of her best friends. They were constantly active whether they were swimming, shopping, or her favorite activity, surfing.

Lean on ME

By Brandi Hayes

Even though religion did not play a major role in school, it didn't stop JHS students from taking part in religion and volunteer groups after school hours. Many churches in the community welcomed the youth into Wednesday night services.

Young Life is an organization that brought the good news of Jesus Christ into the lives of adolescents with an approach that got teens interested. Young Life clubs were held every Monday evening at the VFW. Students participated in prearranged activities with close friends. Saint John Bosco met every Wednesday night for Book Buster at the local Saint John Bosco House. Although there are many ways of showing love for God, Bosco members did so by reading passages from the Bible to their peers.

Many students bounced their way into volunteer work by getting involved in Key Club, Senior service hours, and Economics bonus points. Even though students' lives vary from day to day, it seems they all have their faith and a willingness to help the community.

UNDERLYING Obsessions

Always on my MIND

By Hannah Cox

What is an obsession? The definition of an obsession, according to Merriam-Webster's Dictionary, is "a persistent, disturbing preoccupation with an often unreasonable idea or feeling." Do you have a preoccupation with something that you just can't live without? If you fit the dictionary's definition, then you have an obsession.

Everyone has different likes and dislikes. This makes obsessions unique to each person. What are examples of obsessions? Maybe it's that one T.V. show you watch where no one is allowed to talk except during the commercials. Obsessions could even be the trends that you follow. For Amanda Collinsgru (11), her obsession is music because no matter what she has been through, music has always been there to help her. Obsessions can be something unique to you or a whole group of people can share the same interest. No matter what your obsessions may be, they are a way to express your individuality.

"I'm completely obsessed with the Harry Potter series. I read them, like, all the time."

Saturday Night FEVER

By Andrea Dennison

The weekend; such important words for high schoolers. It's on these nights that friendships are made, traditions come to light, and memories are created. These memories will follow us and stay with us for a lifetime.

When students are asked what their favorite day of the week is, most of the time the answer is either Friday or Saturday. Typical Friday and Saturday nights for many of us include work, friends, parties, and on special occasions... finally cracking open that chemistry book and studying. The hotspots in town include Los Bravos, Jasper 8 Cinemas, the Riverwalk, and of course, Walmart. But what about the regular weekdays? "School nights? I have three words for you; work, tests, and friends," explains Jeri Herbig (10).

Whichever day it is, make sure you live it up. They say these are the years of our lives, so never let a night go forgotten.

"On the weekends, my friends and I love to go to Los Bravos."

Life is a HIGHWAY

By Kasey Young

Every student wishes for the day he or she turns sixteen and is finally able to drive. Getting a driver's license is one of the best moments of our teenage lives. It's the moment we finally get the freedom we've been looking for. Driving to school, work, or just out to have some fun, a driver can always find somewhere to go. "I was really looking forward to driving for sixteen years, but now that I can, I realize that it's not all it's cracked up to be. Although the freedom is amazing," said Paige Haas (10). Students waiting to get their license are getting excited and nervous to finally be able to drive. Along with driving comes responsibility. Everyone hears it from their parents. "Be careful." "Don't be stupid." It's all the typical parental response to when a child turns sixteen and hits the roads. Despite having to listen to the comments, we just can't wait to get out on that open highway and enjoy the freedom that comes with driving.

"Everything will be easier once I drive, but along with the freedom, I'll be nervous being by myself."

- Caroline Wilmes (10).

Living on the EDGE

By Tara Wessel

Jasper High School offers an array of sporting opportunities, but some of our students participate in athletics not offered through the school. From competitive ice skating to ultimate frisbee in the St. Joseph's Church parking lot, JHS students participate in and enjoy a wide range of quirky sports. On the weekends, JHS freshman Chase Braun competes in ice skating competitions. "Ice skating takes up a lot of time, but it's worth it. I make a lot of new friends when I travel," he says. Bosco participants frequently play ultimate frisbee outside the BOSCO house. A large group of students play touch football in the auxiliary gym each morning before school. Even though these students aren't sponsored by the school itself, they set an example in the community and our school with their dedication to their sport. These ambitious students take it to a whole new level with a mix of working hard and having fun, all while enjoying their unofficial sport!

Every year, eighteen selected students dress to impress for Homecoming; two freshman couples, two sophomore couples, two junior couples, and three senior couples. At Football Homecoming, Samantha DeKemper and Kyle Elliott took the Queen and King title. For the Basketball Homecoming, Sarah Thyen and Nick Brassard were crowned.

For Football Homecoming, the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors competed against each other to see who could prepare and build the best float. Seniors prevailed this year in the float competition.

Without Student Council, neither Homecoming celebration would be possible. Student Council members prepare the theme of the Homecoming and lead their classes in building their floats. Along with preparing, these students also take the time out to clean up after the night's end.

Football Homecoming court members were Janessa Wolf, Anjuli Buechler, Lauren Brosmer, Laurel Hubster, Ben Stenftenagel, Alax Traylor, Queen Samantha DeKemper, King Kyle Elliott, Emily Kuebler, Kyla Stenftenagel, Tori Bawel, Micah Kilian, and Taylor Hoffman. The year went by with several inspiring moments. With the freshman dance, there came seniors barging in dressed as construction workers. Concessions sold at the freshman dance helped support Kurt Kraus. As Mike Cooper spoke, we learned how to take bad situations and take responsibility for our part in them, while keeping a positive view toward the future. During Esta's performance, we saw a bit of Israeli culture. The band played music ranging from their Middle-Eastern roots to music that required even a bagpipe. Aside from these various activities, we were also privy to view a traveling appeals court, where students were given a glimpse of the criminal justice system. All in all, it was a very exciting year with many highlights and memorable moments. When remembering the time spent in high school, little mention is given to the speakers, the entertainers, or the dances; but on occasion it's reminiscing on these inspiring speakers and entertaining evenings that becomes important.

Leasing a limo. Buying a dress. Renting a tux. Making reservations. Getting hair done. These are a just a few things that every junior and senior go through when preparing for the most anticipated event of the school year. Prom. Girls get their attire months in advance and pray no one is wearing the same. Nail appointments are also made as soon as possible. Boys rent tuxes that fit their personalities, whether going classic or pulling a "Dumb and Dumber."

Juniors work as hard as possible to put together the best prom so far. We can all agree that this year the juniors definitely set the new standard. As you walked through the doors of this year's prom, you were no longer in the JHS entry way but aboard the Titanic. With violins playing and cabin doors on either side of the hallway, you were instantly immersed in the beautiful surroundings of the ship. With wonderful planning, beautiful backgrounds, and amazing people, this year's prom was truly a night to remember.

JHS post prom has always been an affair to remember. Filled with food, fun, and legendary prizes, some students look forward to post prom more than prom itself. This year's theme was Titanic. Students participated in Las Vegas style gambling, with fake money of course, along with a series of volleyball and basketball tournaments. As always, the chocolate fountain was a huge hit, as students dipped and drizzled an array of foods in a sea of chocolate. Post prom has always been known for the amazing prizes given away to students. While some went home empty handed, others left with fabulous prizes in tow. Senior Rod Espinosa won a Wii, but ironically, he already had one. "I think I'm gonna sell this one to my friend. But it's still cool to have won something!" he said. A Wii wasn't the only prize given away this year. Others included a Rock Band system, computers, TVs, and loads of cash. While prom is a prestigious event for all high schoolers, post prom can sometimes be even more memorable.

"There are so many things to do at post prom. It's hard not to have fun! The prizes are pretty nice too."

2009

Junior year: the year in which we go to prom, take the SATs, and prepare ourselves to be seniors. Junior year is both a beginning and an end. We start to become leaders by guiding the underclassmen with our wisdom, but at the same time we cease to be the underclassmen in need of the guidance. The Class of 2009 showed outstanding leadership by not only accepting the challenges posed over the year, but also by rising above the standards set by previous classes. Perfect examples of this dedication can be seen throughout the process of prom.

The junior class will not be forgotten because of the memories made both on and off the field and in and out of the classroom. Whether it be scoring the winning point or acing that difficult test, junior year flew by with many amazing moments. This class represents an essential part of JHS. One thing is for sure, the Class of 2009 is ready to take charge and move on to bigger and better things.

2010

By Jalainth Engelbrecht, Erika Martinez, and Tara Wessel

The sophomore class is considered the best in the school. That is, by the sophomores themselves. Being a sophomore at Jasper High School comes with many different responsibilities. You're no longer at the bottom of the food chain like the freshmen; yet, you're not in possession of the upper classmen's seniority. However, this year's sophomore class participated in the famous Roman Day festivities. This included climbing an inflatable rock wall, competing in chariot races, and presenting a toga fashion show. The morning ended with a feast fit for any Roman party. Another sophomore responsibility is going on a job shadow. In the spring, students followed members of the working class at their day to day jobs in order to learn a thing or two about life outside our school walls. The year was filled with unforgettable projects made by talented students. From a life-size Trojan Horse to an authentic medieval castle equipped with a siege tower, the projects struck awe with anyone who caught a glance into the classrooms.

2011

By Hannah Cox, Andrea Dennison, and Kasey Young

For the freshmen, this is where the journey begins. It's where the first steps toward freedom, privilege, and responsibility are taken. They've made it through the middle school and to the halls of our high school. In four short years, the class of 2011 will have overcome all of the obstacles presented to them over the years; ranging from ISTEP and SATs to prom and graduation. Whether it be during school or after school, being a "frosh" is an unforgettable and priceless experience, brought on by spirit, integrity, and self-confidence.

The following quotes represent the freshman class of 2011. "The best way to prepare for life is to begin to live." - Elbert Hubbard

"The only way of finding the limits of the possible is by going beyond them into the impossible." - Arthur C. Clarke

Whatever the challenge, the freshmen will persevere and work to do their best. They will continue the legacy of excellence that has been established at our proud school.

STAFF

By Tina Faulks

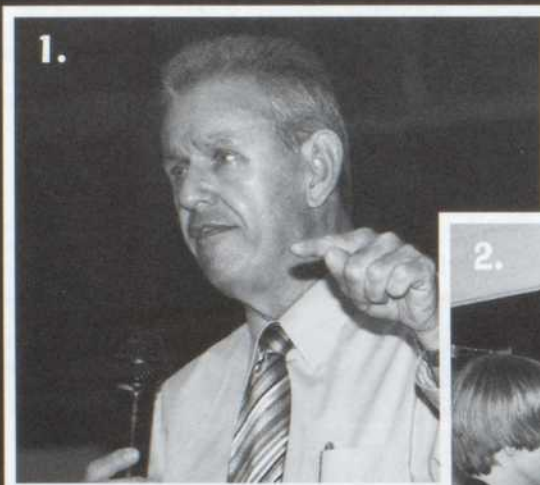

It's always interesting to learn the students' perceptions of their teachers. Sometimes the kids hit the nail on the head, while other times they are a bit off in their estimations of their elders. For example, Dean Jerger was surprised to be voted "Teacher Most Likely to Spend Saturday Night Playing with a Rubik's Cube." Mr. Jerger explained that he has never spent much time with the cube, either recently nor when he was younger.

One thing that most students do recognize is how dedicated the faculty and staff are to the students' education, scholastically, socially, and emotionally. Leah Tooley's days are filled listening to students and trying to help them overcome their problems. Terry Gobert was willing to take a pie in the face at post-prom, risking bodily injury to please his pupils. Geoff Mauck and Julie Ferguson were even willing to be duct taped to a wall for a good cause.

Clearly, as Mr. Roberts likes to point out, the staff at JHS is dedicated to its students regardless of the circumstances.

1. Mr. Jerald Roberts urges the student body to step up and be something great at the beginning of the year assembly.

2. Mr. Geoff Mauck is taped to the wall by sophomore Ben Baker. Teachers were chosen to be taped when students donated money to end the genocide in Darfur.
3. Mr. Anthony Price accepts a response from students during a trivia contest at the spring pep session.

“One of my FAVORITE parts of teaching has been watching my students grow up to be responsible, productive members of society (most of them anyway).” -- Sandy Wehr

Mrs. Sandy Wehr

Mrs. Sandy Wehr announced her retirement after teaching for 34 years. Mrs. Wehr earned a Bachelor's Degree from the University of Evansville and a Master's Degree from Indiana State University. She began her teaching career at Loogootee High School before joining the JHS staff. Though Mrs. Wehr doesn't enjoy the administrative paperwork that goes along with teaching, she's been fulfilled in the profession, creating friendships with other teachers and witnessing her students mature.

Mrs. Wehr said, “As the song says, ‘If you get the choice to sit it out or dance, I hope you dance!’” Mrs. Wehr has certainly taken this quote to heart. She has gone beyond her classroom duties, sponsoring Spanish Club, Pep Club, and the Dance Team at different points in her career.

Mrs. Wehr will continue to keep busy in retirement. She'll spend a lot of time golfing and visiting her daughters and grandchildren. Whatever she's busy doing, Mrs. Wehr will be missed here at JHS.

By David Curtis and

Mr. Roberts sits at his computer, working to run the school day without problems.

Mr. Stenftenagel reviews student information. As assistant principal he's responsible for all things concerning discipline.

The backbone of Jasper High School is the administration. The members of the administration make sure that everything done during the seven hour school day runs smoothly, from routine absences to emergency drills.

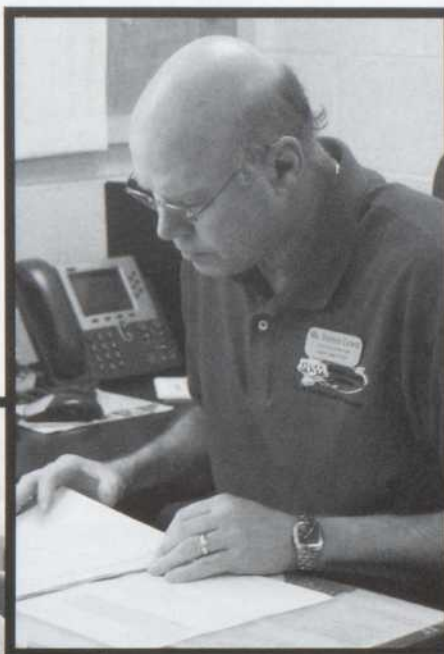

Mr. Roberts and Mr. Stenftenagel are only two of the people responsible for running the building. They receive assistance from other office members.

Deborah Giesler takes care of all attendance issues, Ann Fleck is in charge of finances, and Deb Schum mans the front desk.

Theresa Stenftenagel runs the desk in the athletic office and helps take care of issues for Denny Lewis, the athletic director. Together, the two of them are responsible for the smooth running of our sporting events.

"This school year has been most rewarding. We have experienced many successes that will prepare students for the future. I wish the best for all of the students," Mr. Roberts stated.

Mr. Lewis works diligently on organizing the athletic programs.

Imagine. You're sitting in class. The room is cold, but you're burning up. You go to seek some relief in the nurse's office.

Many JHS students have spent some time in the haven of the nurse's office. School nurse Jami Hutton is great company when you're feeling sick. Whether you've got the flu, a stomach ache, or just want to chat, the nurse's office can become anyone's oasis. Within the nurse's office lies the Teen Wellness Center. Here, JHS students can talk through tough situations with an experienced and trusted adult. While the nurse can provide physical relief, the guidance office offers another kind of therapy. In the guidance office, students can get help and advice on what classes to take and which to avoid. It's a great place to go when you're feeling lost or overwhelmed. All-in-all, the nurse's and guidance offices provide everything JHS students need to get through the day.

You have a project due tomorrow, first thing in the morning. Your home computer has decided not to work for you, and your teacher won't have any sympathy. That project has to be done. What do you do? Well, you could do what many students do everyday. Through books, computers, and other resources in the library and bookstore, students are able to bring their ideas to reality and make them great. Researching and preparing for your project is only half of what still needs to be done. You're busy tonight, so when are you going to get the supplies you need?

The bookstore can save the day. The bookstore, run by volunteer students, offers all the supplies you could possibly need for month long projects or regular homework assignments. So after a quick trip to the bookstore and a stay at the library, your project can be done and your worries gone.

Lucas Stiles (12), like all students, uses library resources to his advantage to finish work.

Seniors Taryn Wanninger, Allie Beckman, Ben Kremp, and Ashley Rilmeyer presented an interpretation of a scene from Caesar for the Shakespearean Fest.

Hannah Hoffman (30) enjoyed doing a project over the Odyssey for Mrs. Stradtner. The Odyssey was one of many big pieces read in her class.

Mrs. Fawks commented, "Students will benefit most by the communication skills taught here: both verbal and written.

Hopefully, they will also learn to appreciate literature!" Whether a student prepared for a project, performed a skit, or enjoyed a novel, many events took place in the English classrooms that offered the chance to capture communication skills. Freshmen looked forward to the new teaching styles that come with entering high school, while the sophomores waited anxiously for Roman Day. Juniors thrived on the opportunity to enrich their English skills. While, of course, seniors counted down the days to the annual Shakespearean Festival. The switching and rearranging of teachers and classes was another obstacle the English department overcame. This brought new ideas and projects into each class. One thing is for sure; English taught every day life lessons.

Paige Haas (10) and Sam Rumbach (9) work on homework in Mrs. Wagner's class.

Logan Messmer (9) utilizes his calculator for Mr. Yarbrough's Geometry, Honors assignment.

Your life is engulfed in mathematical problems on a daily basis. The processes you use to figure out how much money you have to spend or how tall a building is are derived from simple mathematical problems that you learned at an early age. No matter what the problem is, you can guarantee math will be in there somewhere.

With the math standards for the ISTEP and SATs inclining, students are being encouraged to take more challenging courses. In 2007, with the start of a new school year, the Math Department introduced new courses into the curriculum. By advancing the courses and titling them honors classes, students with higher capabilities and dedication to learning were able to explore the subject more in depth and at a faster pace.

Mallory Meyer (10) and Allison Matsel (10) dissect fetal pigs in Mr. Kendall's class. Mr. Kendall also showed his chemistry classes two headed pigs.

Measuring, boiling, and dissecting all are common activities associated with science. Throughout our years in high school, we must take several classes dealing with this subject. Even though it may not be your favorite, teachers find ways to make it fun and relative to our lives. Fun events--such as the Halloween Show put on by Mr. Noblitt and Mrs. Theising, the Sam Rhein lecture, and several other activities-

-happen during the semester, but it's obviously not all fun and games. Homework and tests are extremely hard, and a lot is expected of science students.

Every passing year, the workload continues to get harder and more advanced. Science classes at JHS are extremely diverse. Everything from space to physics formulas are studied in classes throughout the curriculum. Finding something interesting is never a problem. Science is something we all deal with, and at JHS it's always exciting.

Sophomores Chris Weisheit and Brandon Carpenter pull Meredith Wagner in a chariot race. Roman day was a combined celebration for the World Literature and History classes.

Jennifer Winder (10) studies for an upcoming U.S. history test. Many students used extra time to study for history classes.

The Social Studies Department is full of extremely busy teachers. Their curriculum covered all of the following classes: United States History, World History, Government, Economics, Psychology, and Sociology. These teachers had the immense challenge of presenting the same material we have been learning for years in a new and refreshing manner. Yet, every year these same teachers defy the odds and do so. The sophomores participated in Roman Day, the juniors looked forward to watching U.S.

history videos, and the seniors conducted numerous surveys and studies for both Psychology and Sociology. Not only did the social studies teachers make history entertaining, they helped the students learn the importance of history in today's society. Needless to say, the Social Studies Department is a vital part of the learning at JHS.

"Foreign Languages—Don't leave home without one!" -- Mrs. Sandy Wehr (Department Chair)

"You can definitely learn a lot more than just French in Mr. Rottet's class." -- Audrey Hopkins (11)

Finish INTERPRETING the World

By Erika Martinez

Taking a Spanish test, Mitch Mattingly (9) concentrates on getting the right answers. The test consisted of listening, writing, and reading the language.

Using the projector, Mr. Rottet teaches new vocabulary words to his classes. He believes this practice helps visual learners succeed.

Sitting in class confused and trying to figure out the meaning of the new vocabulary words in the textbook is the way some students may feel when learning a new language. Students have the option and opportunity to take Spanish, French, or even German classes, not only to learn the language but also the culture and history behind it. Although, many students enjoyed the options,

Japanese was not offered this year.

In class, many first year French students learned the basics of the language, as well as life lessons from Mr. Rottet. Many events were held to support the different languages, including fun games to make learning the new language more enjoyable. "The best part about teaching a foreign language is that I get to incorporate language and culture and share my passion for traveling," German teacher, Ms. Doboze, reports.

Luke Rogers (9) and Charlotte Olson (9) have a good time in Ms. Lampert's Spanish class. Teachers always try to mix things up to make their classes more fun.

Jordan Morton (10) and Paige Haas (10) work on their business plans. The class members learned the ins and outs of running a business.

Derik Crays (9) and Travis Hoffman (12) work on a project for Computer Applications. Students quickly learn that taking a business class does not mean they can play computer games regularly.

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to make millions of dollars just going around trying to sell your product out on the streets? Marketing would be the class to take in order to understand the real meaning of taking your own product and selling it to make a profit. In order to be a good market salesman, you have to have good communication skills and know how to get buyers' attention. Students interested in the business world can also take Computer Applications, Accounting, Web Design, Entrepreneurship, and a number of other courses. With business classes you will be able to manage money, utilize computer skills, and design a website. Students who leave JHS after taking business classes carry with them all this valuable information they learned along the way.

Dalton McBride (12) concentrates in his Computer Applications class. By the end of the course, students can manipulate programs like Microsoft Word, Excel, and Powerpoint.

"As a freshman I enjoy being in Intro to 2-D Art because it gives me another opportunity to express the way I feel." -- Paula Quinn Ruff (9)

"Throughout history, as new technologies replaced old, society would embrace the newest discoveries of the day and discard old ways of thinking. Just as historians and language arts people are 'keepers of oral and written histories', visual arts people have an important position in their society. We have become 'keepers of lost technologies.'" -- Mr. Fred Roberts (Department Head)

Sydni Kurn (10) asks advice from Mr. Robberts on an art assignment. Mr. Robberts is a great resource for new and more advanced art students, as well as a mentor to younger teachers.

Concentrating in Graphic Design, Jake Hellman (10) works on his ad campaign. Media Arts' students used the computers for in class assignments.

When you generally talk about art you think of famous artists such as Van Gogh or Picasso, but did you ever imagine that you do not have to have a reputation to be considered an artist? Art is a human activity made with the intent to stimulate your senses and mind by transmitting emotions onto a blank canvas. Here at JHS sixteen art classes are offered with the hopes that students will be excited to take part in them. So whether you like painting a canvas, sketching a portrait, or snapping a photograph, there are classes available to engross your interests. Throughout the academic school year, we were fortunate enough to have a strong art staff to help us improve our artistic abilities. And with the help of Mr. Robberts, Ms. Pfaff, and new teacher, Ms. Laakman, JHS students create pieces of art worthy of any prestigious gallery.

Members of the clarinet line march with their fellow band mates. The JHS marching band performed at every Friday night home football game.

The pep band brings out the spirit in the crowd. They played at every pep rally to emphasize the importance of school spirit.

The Jasper High School band has always represented our community well, and this year was no different than the rest. The marching season kicked off in July when members gathered in Tennessee for a week of grueling practices and preparation for the upcoming season. Or as many would call it. . . band camp. Practices were long, and the students' week-ends were filled rather quickly. They played at Friday night football games and then returned to school on Saturday mornings to continue practicing their competition performance. But it all payed off at the contests, including State, where Jasper earned 6th place. Pep band was also in charge of rallying the crowd at pep sessions. Members also had the opportunity to participate in jazz band, symphonic band, and solo and ensemble contests.

Marching band members take the field for competition. The participants looked sharp in their black uniforms despite the heat of competition season.

Leslie Borden (12), Amanda Collinsgro (10), Alex Traylor (12), Brooke Mehringer (10), Jade Ruckriegel (12), and Arielle Ruckriegel (10) practice clapping for the song "Choral Flourish."

Choir girls act out the "12 Groovy Days of Christmas" for the Christmas Concert.

Without song, the world would be a little less bright. Shining their light on the school, the choir classes bring melodic tones to enlighten students, faculty, and parents. With this talented group, any song can be mastered. Learning how to sight read is an important part of being a chorus member. It enables a singer to look at any song and be able to sing it. With daily sight reading exercises, the choir members learn a skill valuable to their talent. Everyday, choir students practice songs for their many performances. With pieces they drill daily, the choir performed before each showing of Nunsensations, held a Christmas concert, sang at the Dubois County Museum, provided music for Kurt Kraus's graduation ceremony, and held a Spring Concert. Whatever the occasion, the choir adds soothing sounds to enhance the mood.

Mrs. Leah Tooley visits health classes to explain how to cope with stress and trauma.

Throughout the year P.E. and Health students were given instruction as to how they should maintain personal fitness. The Strength and Conditioning class met at 6:45 each day for lifting and agility training. The main goal of morning weights varies from person to person. Some go to stay healthy, others to keep in shape for sports, and yes, some go just to get out early. The end is all still the same; everyone benefits from the coaches encouraging them through the workout sessions. It's often hard to get up in the mornings and go, but it helps to instill a sense of responsibility.

Mrs. Tooley taught students the importance of recognizing signs of friends in need. Also she instructed students and gave them a basis of knowledge concerning peer counseling. Mr. Ward educated students about the importance of good diet, life decisions, about living drug free.

Sophomores, Michael Conrad and Lucas Sendelweck work on lawn mowers in their class.

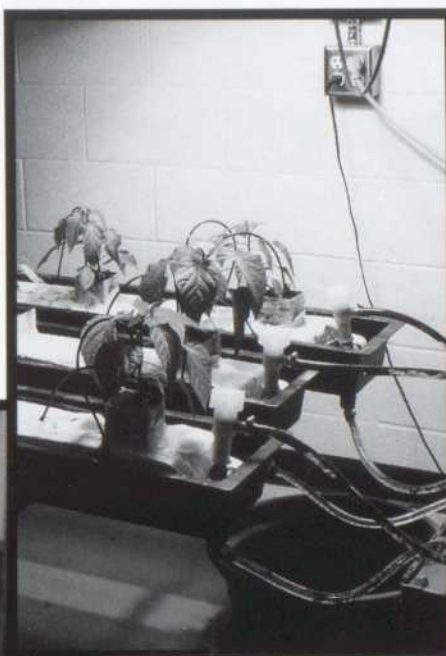

Mr. Braun gives Mathew Lichtyter (12) advice on his assignment.

As each day passes, new and better technology comes out to ease the trials of everyday life. Everyone is focused on eliminating their difficulties. With the different technology classes, students can learn how these stress-eliminating things work and how to create the very objects themselves. Students created their own drawings with software, web pages, computer designs, and worked with machines, tools, wood, and metal to build and repair objects.

Along with technology, agriculture classes eliminate the unknowns about resources and the land, including the animals that inhabit it. In class, students studied anatomy and genetics and were introduced to the procedures to design landscapes. The many different technology and agriculture classes base their studies on practical topics.

In some agriculture classes, the students grow plants, utilizing a soil-less operation.

Proficiencies

Jenny Kimmel (10) takes time to care for her take-home child in Parenting. Students experienced what it was like to have a baby for a weekend with the life-like dolls.

Daniel Benston (12) and Chet Strange (10) collect the materials needed for a cooking project. Foods class is one of few places where guys wear aprons.

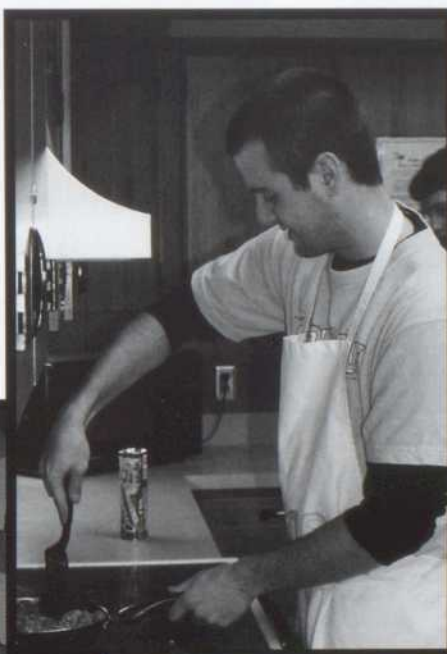

Do you know how to cook? What about what it takes to be a parent? Can you understand how much your relationships affect your daily life? If not, FACS classes are for you. In Nutrition and Wellness, more commonly known as Foods class, students learn all about what makes up a daily diet and get to make delicious creations in the process. In Parenting, students learn the ropes of parenting by receiving a fake take-home child that is their complete responsibility for one week. They also learn how it feels to be pregnant by trying on an empathy belly. Textiles and Fashion is another handy class offered by the FACS Department. Students learn the basics of sewing and create projects such as scarves and cell phone covers.

In Interpersonal Relationships, students learn about the building blocks of many types of relationships. All in all, every FACS class offers something different for everyone.

Nathan Messmer (12) prepares food during classtime. The students shared their creations with teachers and other students.

Every year, students from our school take on a very rewarding responsibility. Helping the students in the special needs class takes the place of a study hall for many of the volunteers. Several fun activities provided for the class occurred this year, including the Special Olympics which gets the kids involved in various sports. Teachers and helpers both find the experience enriching and a fun way to give back to the school. The classes are designed to enhance education and work skills so the special needs students can achieve a successful life after their school years are completed. This program is a huge benefit to the students' futures. It will continue to be a wonderful asset to our school and show how Jasper is willing to go the extra mile to help any student.

Jasper High School juniors and seniors got the opportunity to take their learning to a hands on level. The students were offered a plethora of options, ranging from Health Occupations to Automotive.

Health Occupations and Law Enforcement were offered here, while the others were held off campus at Southridge, Northeast Dubois, Pike Central, and the Jasper Cos-

These classes gave the students a chance to experience different types of career choices. Many students benefited from these classes that have begun to prepare them for their futures.

Leading the Way

By Taylor Guthrie

Don't do drugs. Don't drink and drive. These are just a few of the sayings we are told by the adults in our lives. Unfortunately, because these are said so often, the messages quickly lose their importance. Would you pay more attention to the saying when it's your best friend drilling these lessons into your head? That is what the All-Stars do. These students are using their influence in the best way by speaking out against drinking and doing drugs. They travel to the elementary schools and talk to kids about the importance of staying clean throughout the high school experience.

Another influential group is Student Council. We select students to represent us. Stepping out of their boundaries they bring the teens of JHS together. This year they began their "Bringing Spirit Back" campaign. By holding more outrageous and entertaining pep sessions, they have achieved their goal. Whether warning you about drugs or getting you excited for the game, these students are working hard to make our school and community a better place.

Key Club and Natural Helpers are two of the most productive and influential organizations at Jasper High School. The Natural Helpers began their year with a three day retreat at St. Mary's church in Ireland. There, Natural Helpers worked on listening skills, giving good advice, and much more. They shared the retreat with the Natural Helpers of Forest Park High School. This year, Natural Helpers teamed up with the local Tri-Cap which donated numerous items for use.

Key Club has the largest number of members of any other club at JHS. This year, Key Club members have completed service projects, such as pumpkin painting for the hospital, rake n' run, ringing the Salvation Army bell, volunteering at the hospital and reading to young kids at the library. All-in-all, both of these clubs make a big difference!

"Service to the community is the prime ideal of Key Club. Through this club, I am able to better the community and help others." – Beth Hochgesang (12)

Translating the Language

By Andrea Dennison

Hola! Bonjour! Guten Tag! Koinichiwa! Japser High School offers a variety of foreign language clubs for the student body to participate in, including Spanish, French, German, and Japanese.

The Spanish Club has done many activities this year. Many of the members' favorite activity was an overnight trip to Chicago to attend the La Fiesta, which is a festival held every year.

The German Club has been very active as well. Members participated in Sankt Nikolaus Fest, built gingerbread houses, and held a movie night. They also sold advent calendars and closed the year with a meeting dedicated to sampling German chocolates.

The French and Japanese Clubs both held movie nights as well. The French Club co-sponsored Radio-a-Thon with the Junior Sivitan Club. And sponsor Mr. Devin Rottet pulled double duty. He not only sponsored French Club, but he also stepped in to support the Japanese Club members.

Showing our Talent

By Brandi Hayes

Art Club opened up new and challenging opportunities for JHS students to take part in. Some activities that Art Club members experienced were The Taster's Party and The Chalk Walk; both were scheduled in the second semester of the school year. Art is a way to escape from homework and express your feelings by drawing them out.

The Jasper High School Gifted and Talented Program has added "Art Horizons" to its name to more clearly define its purpose, to set apart and identify participants as a group of gifted and talented individuals within the selected field of the visual arts. This year more students applied than spots were available. Just as other students belong to groups, clubs, or are selected to exclusive positions on teams, the students that were selected to the Art Horizons Program felt the pride of belonging somewhere. On the evening of January 29, 2008 an induction ceremony welcomed the students who were talented enough to get in. The ceremony addressed visual arts in a dignified and stately manner.

Performing our Choreography

By Erika Martinez

The Color Guard, as in many previous years, performed with the band this year and traveled to a variety of locations to compete. The girls practiced long and hard during summer to put on great performances. Waking early in the morning, having to practice multiple times a week, and giving up a lot of time to dedicate it to the guard taught the girls discipline as well as how to have fun.

Putting in a lot of effort, the Winter Guard team worked exceedingly hard to place well in competitions. Practices were usually held on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Devoted, they danced through competitions and earned 5th place at State. Their show this year was Prayer in Open D.

Although it has only been around for three years, the dance team has worked hard on routines to perform during basketball games. To perfection, the girls practiced hard to dance their best. The team also danced at pep sessions.

"After cheering my freshman year, I decided it wasn't for me. Dance Team started the next year and I love to dance, so I tried out. I love dancing at half time during basketball games; I like it better when the music works!" — Amy Schnell (12)

By Morgan Argenziano

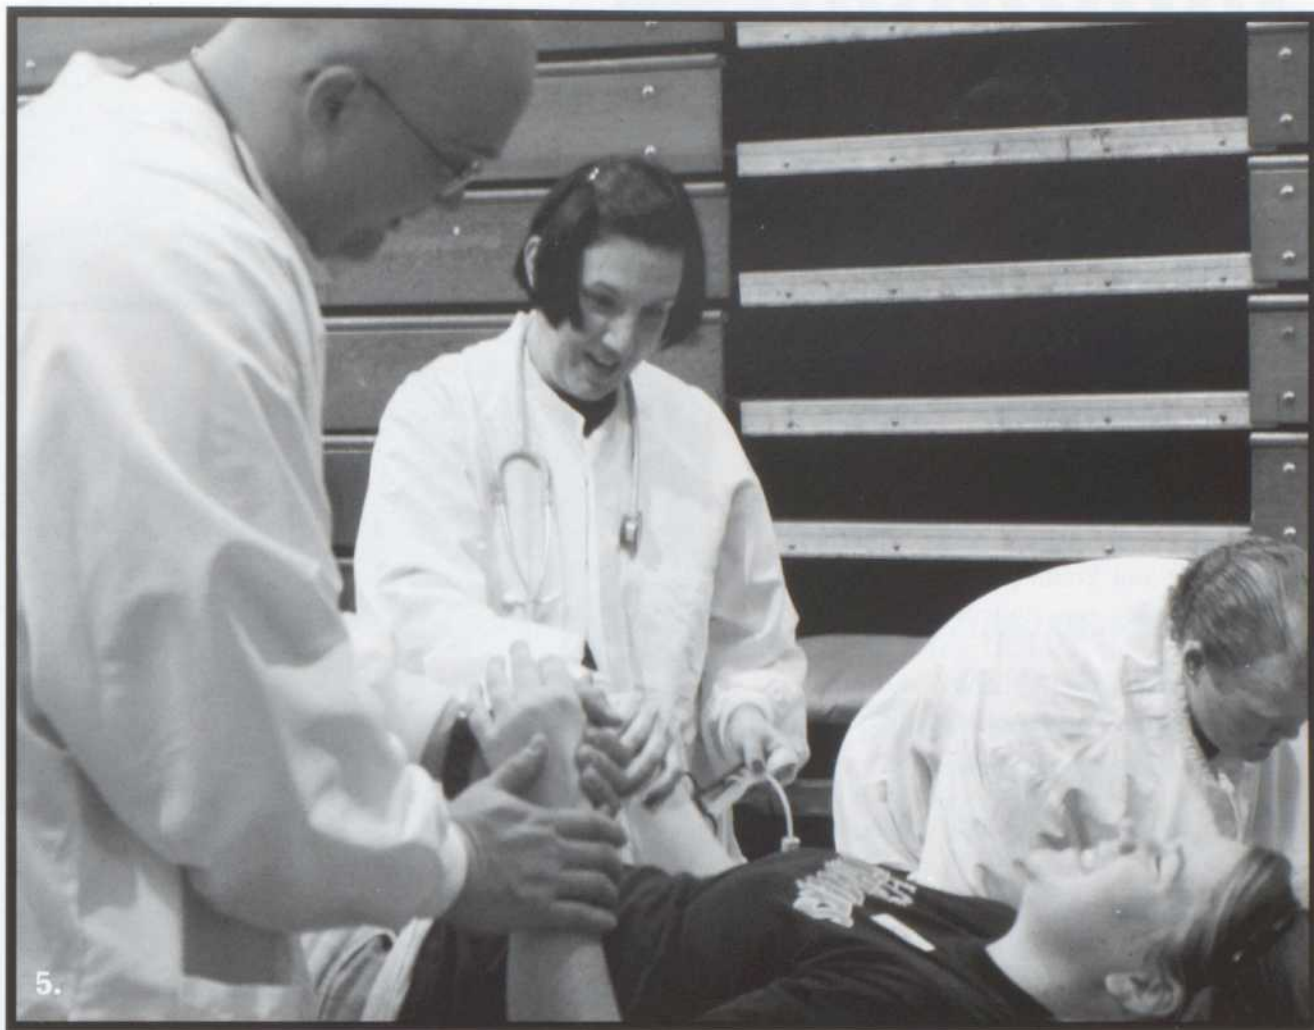

This year, Junior Sivitan paired with the French Club to sponsor the Radio-a-Thon in April. Mrs. Schmett and Mr. Rottet worked together to coordinate their two groups.

National Honor Society members were selected through a multi-step process. First the juniors and seniors had to qualify based on their grade point average and academic standing. Then the teachers voted, and the members were chosen. Members, new and returning, participated in the Induction Ceremony in May.

As in previous years, the Octagon Club set out to help the community by sponsoring a blood drive. Adviser Jami Hutton and her small group of student members involved the entire school community and had yet another successful event.

Informing the Public

By Nyssa Owen

At Jasper, we have a reputation of being the best. This reputation not only includes both academics and sports, it also includes the choices of our students outside of school. Both SADD and Youth Alive are clubs that focus on helping our students make the best decisions possible. SADD stands for Students Against Destructive Decisions, and all year long the members of SADD participated in different activities. These activities, including Red Ribbon Week, helped educate other students about many of today's pressing issues.

Youth Alive is a student-led bible study that met on Wednesday mornings here at the high school. Its mission was to reach every high school student through hope-filled ministry. During meetings, Youth Alive promoted healthy spiritual and social life skills of students. It was also a great time for students to discuss, gain fellowship, and witness.

"My favorite thing SADD does is provide helpful information for others to make healthy choices in life."

Junior Achievement is a club where members meet for twelve Mondays in a row. Participants divide into two teams; this year the teams were called Ramrod and Erth. These teams compete to see who can raise the most money by selling a product that they make. By the end of the twelve week period the teams have created a business plan and have made and sold their products. Both teams had a successful year.

FCCLA is sponsored by Mrs. Christa Widolff. FCCLA members try to help the community, as well as people. Members of FCCLA collected money for the March of Dimes in the month of October.

BPA is directed by Mrs. Dana Kunz and Mrs. Amanda Schipp. BPA teaches the students about the real business world and techniques that should be learned. In this club, students have competitions for both individuals and groups. One of Jasper's members, Tommy Craven (9) was elected the BPA District President, which is quite an accomplishment.

Improving our Skills

By David Curtis

Behind every club there's a group of students that devote their personal time and energy to a cause. This year is without exception. The FFA did fundraising by selling jerky sticks, and they were even able to send a complimentary box of jerky to Mr. Helming's Guard unit in Iraq.

The Math Club a.k.a. Imaginary Pi Club sold pies during lunch to raise money to support families of Guard soldiers overseas. They also held a Yahtzee tournament. The Pi Club met the first Monday of every month at 7:30 in the morning to discuss upcoming events and also do sudoku puzzles and other brain teasers.

The Tech Club/ High Mileage team spent most of the year tinkering with robotics. They also built a new high mileage car, using a welded aluminum frame. Students worked in a very laid back atmosphere and honed their technical prowess throughout the year. One of the main issues with the high mileage cars was efficiency, as weight must be taken into consideration.

"Pi=awesomeness. You realize, of course that you can't square pi because pi squared is just wrong. I hope I've made myself clear." — Rodrigo Espinosa (12)

Concentrating for Success

By David Curtis

The Chess Club met every Monday after school in the LGI room to play chess and talk strategy. Mr. Polen guided the students and even lead them to an informal tournament at Southridge later in the year. Members of the club are privy to numerous inside jokes. The club hopes to expand and go to more tournaments in coming years.

With the lanes oiled and hands chalked, the bowling club smashed through another season. Both the girls' and boys' teams made it to State, making the season a real success. The bowlers are not yet officially school sanctioned as a team, but are instead members of the Jasper Bowling club. They're hopeful that within the coming years the sport will be recognized as more than a club; and with the talent they have, it's more than deserved. The practices were difficult, because instead of just plain bowling, the members would practice spare shots aiming at a single pin. Technique and consistency were crucial to their success.

Preparing for Competition

By Hannah Cox

Imagine you're standing in front of the entire student body. Fear closes your throat and you are incapable of speech. You glance around, embarrassed, and heat builds in your face. The first words of your speech fumble through your lips, and a torrent of embarrassment floods you. But slowly, you forget you are speaking to a large body of people, and the words start to flow more easily. The crowd applauds raucously as you close your speech, and you start to feel a sense of accomplishment.

Public speaking is a major fear to most people. But if you join the Speech Club, PAC, or Academic Team, this fear must be pushed aside to deliver a performance worthy of applause. Speech Club has many talented members that went to the State competition: Tyler Cox (11), Jordan Morton (11), Darrah Saare (12), and Audrey Stork (11). Steel Magnolias was the play put on by PAC this year. The Academic Team went to the regional competition, but did not receive enough points to make it to the State competition. The Spell Bowl Team competed at the Hoosier Spell Bowl at Heritage Hills High School located in Lincoln City. Though Spell Bowl doesn't require public speaking, members had to stay calm in order to spell 55 words correctly while under pressure.

"Come on, Cats!" The number one job of the Mat Club and Bat Girls is to cheer on the Jasper High School wrestling and baseball teams. The girls make posters, go to games and meets, and even raise some money for the teams. At the end of the season, each Mat Club member decorates their wrestler's bedroom, leaves several small gifts (drinks, snacks, etc.), and creates a scrapbook for the wrestler to keep. Bat Girls come to every game and help out at concession stands.

FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes) is a club filled with a large number of diverse students from all different areas of athletics. They have several meetings throughout the year and meet with Korb--who gives motivational speeches.

This year, Monday and Thursday nights were filled with the sounds of the fans cheering for our JV and Freshman football teams. Both teams had a great season. The freshmen finished with a record of 7-0, and JV came out with a record of 6-2. "Our football season goal, to take every game one at a time, was accomplished. It worked for an undefeated season," explained Nathan Schnell (9). One of the best memories for the freshman players was only giving up twenty-one points all season. When asked about the opponents, Coach Land responded that Castle, Heritage Hills, and Vincennes were some of the toughest teams they played this year. The JV team started off the year losing their first two games, but came back and defeated the rest of their rivals. According to Coach Shelton, "It was nice to see this group mature and improve as the season went on. They succeeded in achieving the goals to simply become better football players and prepare to be on the varsity team."

UnTAMED UNTAMED FOOTBALL

The Jasper Wildcat football team banded together to complete a successful and hard-fought season. The team, lead by a largely defensive senior class, was known to hold opponents to less than two touchdowns per game. The unstoppable defense created a perfect platform for the fairly young offensive team to score frequently. The Cats finished off the season with an overall record of 9-3, three of those games being post season. Leading rusher, Jacob Bawel was responsible for 12 of the 26 touchdowns scored from rushing. Seniors, Travis Hoffman and Mitch Nordoff, were a threat to opposing quarterbacks with nine interceptions between them. Another stand-out player, Austin Ahrens (10), led the team in numerous categories. Needless to say, he was an asset to the team. Football, however, is a team sport and the Cats would not have done as well this year without the efforts of every player who stepped on to the field. Coach Ahrens attributes the success of this season to the boys' teamwork.

Teamwork was the theme for the Jasper High School Junior Varsity team. Coming together was no problem with their season record ending at 19-4. Fans who came to the JV games were not disappointed. The team practiced by running at the Jasper Municipal Golf Course. The boys' team hoped to win Big 8 but fininshed third, only six points away from first. Coming in sixth at sectional, they had a very successful season overall. The experience they gained this season will carry over. Leadership was a key component, even when it's an individual event. The boys were lead by seniors Nick Brassard and Guy Goodness. Sophomores Kory Voelkel, Gibson Goodness and freshman Alex Hawkins also contributed a great deal and rounded out the top five. Their efforts and skill helped lead the team throughout the season. It can be said that the most important part is going on in spite of the difficulties. Though they didn't win sectional, the boys still finished strong and are looking forward to next year.

UnTAMED UNTAMED CROSS COUNTRY

Girls' Cross Country finished yet another successful season. When these girls stepped up to the starting line, everyone from the opposing schools knew they meant business. To prove their dedication and skill, the girls won the Big 8 Conference title for the fourth year in row. Varsity runners, Lacey Oeding (12), Rachel Mehringer (10), and Lindsay Barth (9) led not only the Jasper runners, but many from other schools as well. Other key runners were Alice Brescher, Caitlyn Brick, and Ashlyn Greener.

These girls, among others, contributed immensely to the team. Despite a great effort at sectional, the team missed advancing to regional by only one spot. Lacey, however, came out of sectional with a first place championship. She also advanced all the way to State by securing first place finishes at both regional and semi-state. After finishing seventh at Terre Haute, she earned a spot on the Mid-East All-Star Team and finished first for Team Indiana. Coach Schipp has only great hopes and expectations for next season.

This year's boys' soccer team put in great efforts to make this season truly outstanding. Team captains, Matthew Getzin (12), Mario Rojas (12), and Travis Werner (12) all lead their team through extraordinary examples of leadership and superb technique. The hard work and determination paid off when they took home the conference trophy mid-season. This win was considered the biggest high of the season by many players. Having great leaders, players, and wins enabled the team to stay focused throughout the season. Although they had some upsets, everyone came together as a team to make their goals a reality. Varsity walked away with nine wins, six losses, and three ties. The junior varsity team also made our school proud with a record of thirteen wins, one loss, and two ties. Coach Kyle Kendall saw the team captains, along with Nathan Messmer (12), Scott Schnarr (12), and Emmanuel Cruz (10), as some of the most outstanding players this season. The boys have made us proud with one untamed season.

With this new and improved team, Jasper won against one of our greatest rivals: Forest Park. Dunking the ball on Senior Night, Ryan Grammer produced one of the most memorable moments of the season. With a record of 26-7, the team's efforts stood out from those of other teams. Overall, the players' dedication to the game helped them overcome many struggles, and in the end, turned them into an outstanding, cooperative team. With the participation in numerous conferences, such as Southern Indiana and Big Eight, Jasper had opportunities to expose themselves to other teams and improve their tactics.

On June 3rd, the Wildcats faced Gibson Southern in the regional game. Shortstop Ian Boone (11) lifted the Wildcats to victory with a bouncing hit over third base, bringing in a runner, ending the game with a score of 8-7. Despite the team's 3-9 semi-state loss to Greensburg, the Jasper Wildcats finished their season with a confident and positive outlook for future seasons.

UnTAMED UNTAMED SOFTBALL

This year, the JV and Varsity softball teams had a fantastic season. Some of the star players on the team included Chelsea Humbert, Leah Miller, and Abby Bartley. Several goals were achieved, including winning regional and moving on to State for the first time ever in the history of Jasper High School softball. The girls even boasted an eighteen game winning streak! The teams also managed to beat some of their biggest rivals, including Heritage Hills, Boonville, and Florence, Alabama.

It wasn't all work and no play though. The team also had a lot of good times. They traveled 285 miles together on a trip to Alabama to compete against top-notch teams. The Cats ended the season with a smoking record of 28 - 5, making this year one of the best seasons on record. Coach Tom Rupert explained that this will be a year that will be hard to forget. For example it took the team six days to play the two State games due to rain delays. What did the team do to pass the time? They colored. Clearly, it was a special season.

Hurdles, long jump, and the 100 meter dash are all common elements of Jasper High School track and field. The 2008 track and field team worked extremely hard this season and came out on top because of their motivated work. Coach Darin Ward said, "The guys really came together this season. They worked really hard as a team and in their individual events."

All the team's members tried their best and excelled in their events: group or individual. But there were a few individuals who went the extra mile. Those members included seniors Derek Messmer, Nick Brassard, Guy Goodness, Jon Villanueva, Max Mendel, and Travis Hoffman.

Goals are always a major part of being on a sports team. The boys track team made a goal to win the Big 8 Conference title this year. A handful of runners and field event participants moved on to compete at regional, and Derek Messmer made a repeat trip to the State track meet to compete in pole vault.

The girls' track team was certainly something to be proud of this year. With all the events to choose from--running, throwing, jumping, and more--there's always something for everyone to enjoy. As a whole, the team successfully won 16 out of 20 meets over the course of their season. However, individuals proved they could also shine alone. Sophomore Sami Schmitt set a new pole vault record of nine feet and nine inches. She also qualified for State in the event, along with senior Kaisi Nixon, who competed at State in both hurdle events.

Senior Lacey Oeding also broke the 1600 meter record with a time of 5:12.75. The team put on quite a show at their Big 8 competition, where they placed first. Coach Schaeffer couldn't have been prouder of her girls. "The girls enjoyed a successful season. The highlight being a half point sectional victory. It's definitely the most memorable sectional of the three the girls have achieved," she says of their year. With a talented and ambitious senior class, the team had some great leaders to help them through the year.

Securing Big Eight Conference Champs, capturing a Sectional Title, seizing the first ever Regional crown, and making a trip to the State Finals were only a few highlights for the Jasper Boys' Golf team. The list of accomplishments the team showcased this year goes on and on. Coach Steve Milligan commented, "This team had potential. It was just whether or not they were going to use all of it to get the job done." With a season record of 108-31, the boys beat county rivals Southridge and numerous state-ranked teams. The team breezed through sectional with a first-place win. Wanting to make school history by winning the first regional, the team would settle for nothing less. After being proclaimed Regional Champs, the team was packed for The Legends in Franklin. The Jasper boys fell five strokes short of capturing their final goal of advancing to the second day of State Finals. Shooting the best round of the year with a 309, Milligan stated, "Those boys have nothing to hang their heads for. They placed 13th out of the whole state; that's an accomplishment itself."

UnTAMED UNTAMED TENNIS

The Jasper Girls' Tennis team had another amazing year, ending with a run for the State crown. The team was undefeated in dual meets during the regular season and boasted a win at the sixteen team Jasper Invitational and a third place finish at the Carmel Invitational. However, the girls worked hard to earn these wins. If not all, most of the players practice and condition throughout the year, not just at the beginning of the season. When it is cold or rainy, these girls travel to French Lick to play indoors. The team ended the season with titles at sectional, regional, and semi-state. However, they were defeated at the State tourney, earning a fourth place finish.

Younger players had some accomplished upper-classmen to look up to and learn from. Senior Maggie Boeckman has played number one singles all four years in high school. Stephanie Kreilein worked hard to reclaim her position after being out with an injury last year, and Stephanie Seger earned the Mental Attitude Award at State.

UnTAMED UNTAMED UnTAMED

A returning trip to Dallas, Texas, was one important item of business on the minds of the Jasper cheerleaders. With a second place finish the previous year, the team only had high goals of capturing the title. The season started off with success for both squads after securing Top Team Award and Champion Chant Award at NCA cheer camp. The achievements continued as each team won their division at the 4-H competition. As school began, cheering at games, exciting the crowd, and yelling at pep sessions were part of the daily routine. As the varsity team moved on to regional and State, the team faced many obstacles. However, the team battled through practice after practice and ended a competition season with a second place finish at Nationals. Coach Belinda Nelson commented, "As we worked through National season to overcome building challenges and injuries, the team persevered, peaked at the right time, and finished with a second place at NCA Nationals."

Some lessons stay with you.

From pre-school to high school, you're growing, learning and changing. And each step of the way, the lessons that last a lifetime are the ones that teach you teamwork, integrity, responsibility and community. Jasper High School is a great place to learn those values, and that's why Old National Bank is a proud supporter of Jasper's students, faculty and activities.

Soft as a Feather

for Kurt Kraus

*Light as a feather you came into this world
To join Becky and Ron, the Boiers and Krauses, and take hold of their souls.*

*Your fight to stand, to walk, and to grow
Had others all wondering what only God could know.*

*Bright as the moon you made their days and their years.
You reached many stopping stones, some far and some near,
And those who knew you cheered.*

*Tight as a fist you stood with family and friends
4-wheeling, camping, hunting, and working on trucks.
And time loving your beagle dog, Holly, you spent.*

*Your might and drive and desires
Let you participate in so many events
Other young people expect to be heaven sent.*

*Your plight with cancer weakened you during this last year,
But the strength of your mother and your dad, it's very clear,
And everyone else's support kept you from knowing fear.*

*Your sights on the goal to get your diploma
Brought inspiration to others tenfold
Even if they didn't know you until your story was told.*

*The heights you reached took others along.
During the months of your journey,
You had us all singing your song.*

*It's right that your pain is over
And you've walked your last mile.
You give us a 'thumb's up,' and we see you smile.*

*Quite a deep hole you leave in our hearts today.
But now you have touched the angels
And you're with them to stay.*

*Night has taken you out of this world and away from us all.
But soft as a feather you'll stay in our souls.*

By Clara Fromme March 26, 2008

As the Class of 2008 entered the front, glass doors for its final year, no one knew what to expect. Inside these closed doors, students set goals and ambitions to capture throughout the year.

Whether students were studying for the next test or preparing for the big Friday night rivalry game, the differences of students were set aside and the students of Jasper High School could not have been more united.

As the year came to an end, the doors closed for the final time. Seniors departed these familiar walls, wanting and wishing to hear the eight o'clock bell once more, but nonetheless waiting to explore what the real-world has to offer. No matter what the case, all of us will forever remain

UNTAMED Wildcats.

Creating "Untamed"

by Tina Fawks

The average student probably has very little idea what goes into creating a yearbook. This year's staff members worked long and hard to create this UNTAMED inspired book. The yearbook staff took thousands of photos and interviewed coaches, staff members, and students. They also had to create layouts for the pages within the book, come up with titles, write captions and copy. They attended activities and sporting events, plays and choir concerts, club meetings and field trips. In short, it was the job of these students to know everything that goes on in this school.

With the theme UNTAMED, the staff members wanted to examine what being a WILDCAT is really all about. And what did they discover? It's about pride; it's about spirit; it's about being a part of Jasper High School.

2007-2008 Yearbook Staff Members: Megan Schutz, David Curtis, Morgan Argenziano, Paige Schroeder, Brandi Hayes, Tara Wessel, Nyssa Owen, Andrea Dennison, Taylor Guthrie, Hannah Cox, Erika Martinez, Brock Owen, Jaleigh Engelbrecht, and Kasey Young

Assistant yearbook adviser Erin Doboze peruses a previous year's book, looking for ideas and ensuring that the same items weren't covered repetitively.

Senior Staff Members are David Curtis, Nyssa Owen, Brandi Hayes, Paige Schroeder, Megan Schutz, and Morgan Argenziano
